THE GOOD TIME COMING.

BY CHARLEY CARROLL.

From earths remotest, most benighted ages,
Until the present time of hope and toil,
The star which guided and still guides her sages,
And gives them joy through all the wild turmoil,
Is the good time coming.
The antidote for woe, the crown of smiling peace,
The harvest time of earth, which yields each joy increase,
The glad millenium day of bliss
Is the good time coming.

The light that shines upon the pathway dreary
Of hopeless mourners, groping in despair,
And gilds a scene a far, all bright and cheery,
Where only joy breathes on the summer air,
Is the good time coming.
The ray that from their hearts drives back the shades of night,
Re-lights the torch of Hope, and puts their woes to flight,
The light that cheers them from afar,
Is the good time coming.

The guerdon of each noble soul's endeavor,
That arms its truth against the world's blind scorn,
The bright ideal day that fadeth never,
Whose moments glow with ever-dawning morn,
Is the good time coming.
The gonfalon of Hope, that waves o'er each true heart,
The gleaming shield of Faith, that parries every dart,
The anchor of the soul's desires,
Is the good time coming.

The bright Utopia of the poet's numbers,
The Alabama* of the toiling sage,
The glad Eureka of each dreamers slumbers,
With every people, and in every age,
Is the good time coming.
Our hopes' far-seen fruition, the gleaming future's treasure,
The hour of every joy, the realm of every pleasure,
Is the good time coming.

Ho! ye who wait, in faith, the watched for dawning
Of this glad day whose promise cannot fail,
Work till the night comes on, from early morning,
Firm grasping plough, and spade and oaken flail,
For the good time coming.
Nor let your firm faith waver, nor let your soul's fires languish,
But trusting future hours for end of present anguish,
With brave, true heart, and strong right arm,
Speed the good time coming.

*It is said that, long ago, a band of fugitive Indians, long and closely pursued halted at length, in safety, on the banks of a beautiful river, and striking their tent-poles into the soil, exclaimed, "Alabama! Alabama!" "Here we rest!" Hence the name Alabama.

THE HUNDRED DOLLAR BILL.

BY ANSON B. CLIFFORD.

Mr. John Somers was a merchant, doing business in a thriving country village. He had two clerks in his employ, but with some difference to minor points of character.—Peter White was twenty-one years of age, the child of a now widowed mother, and in his choice of a profession he had only been governed by the desire to yield to his mother and self the surest means of honest support. Walter Sturgis was of the same age, and equally as honest, but he paid more attention to outward appearance of things, than did his companion. For instance, it galled him to put on his frock ahd overhalls, and help pack up pork, potatoes and so on, while Peter cared not what he did so long as his master required it, and it was honest.

One day Mr. Somers called the two young men into his counting room and closed the door after them. His countenance looked troubled, and it was some moments before he spoke.

Boys, he said at length, I have been doing a very foolish thing. I have lent my name to those I thought friends, and they have ruined me. I gave them accommodation notes, and they promised solemnly that these notes should not pass from their hands save to such men as I might accept. Of course I took their notes in exchange. They have now failed and cleared out, and have left my paper in the market to the amount of seven or eight thousand dollars. I may arise again, but I must give up my business.—Everything in the store is attached, and I am left utterly powerless to do business now.—I have looked over your accounts, and I find that I owe you about a hundred dollars each. Now, I have just a hundred dollars in money, and the small piece of land on the side of the hill just back of the town house. There are four acres of the land, and I have been offered a hundred dollars for it, by those who have lands adjoining. I feared this blow, which has come upon me, and I conveyed this land to my brother: so now he can convey it to whom he pleases. Now I wish you would make your choice. If I could pay you both money I would, but as I cannot, one of you must take this land. What say you? You Walter, have been with me the longest, and you shall say first.

Walter Sturgis hesitated some moments, and he said,

I'm sure I don't want the land, unless I could sell it right off.

Ah, but that won't do, returned Mr. Somers. If you take the land yon must keep it. Were you to sell it, my creditors would say at once that I pocket the money.

Then I am willing to divide the hundred dollars with Peter, for if I had the land I should do nothing with it.

You need not divide the money for I can easily raise the hundred dollars on the land. My brother will do that. But I imagined that you would prefer the land, for I knew the soil was good, though quite rocky.—However, what say you Peter?

Why, I will take the land, returned Peter, or I will divide equally with Walter—each of us to take half the money and half the land.

But what should I want with the land? said Walter. I could not work it, I—I should hardly like to descend from a clerkship to digging and delving in blue frock and cow-hide boots.

Then it is easily settled, rejoned Peter, for I should prefer the land.

Walter was pleased with this, and before night he had the hundred dollar bill in his pocket, and Peter had the warantee deed of the four acres of land upon the hill side.—Both the young men belonged to the village and had always lived there. It was only five miles from the city, and of course many city fashions were prevalent there. It was under the influence of this fashion that Walter Sturgis refused to have anything to do with the land.

Times were dull, and business slack, even though it was early spring. Peter White's first object, after having got the deed of his land, was to hunt up some kind of work.—Had he been a mechanic he might have found some place, but he knew no trade except that of salesman and book keeping. A whole week he searched in vain for employment; but at the end of that time he found an old farmer who wanted a hand, through he could not afford to pay much. But Peter finally, and with the advice of Mr. Somers, made an arrangement of this kind. He would work for the old farmer (Mr. Stevens) steadily until the ground was open, and then he should have half the time to devote upon his own land, and in part payment for his services, Stevens was to help about the ox work that the youth might need. Next Peter went to the hotel, where there was quite a stable, and engaged a hundred loads of manure, the landlord promising to take his pay in produce when harvest time came. So Peter White put on a blue frock and cow-hide boots,and went to work for farmer Stevens.

In the meantime Walter Sturgis had been to the city to try to find a situation in some store, and he came back bootless. He was surprised when he met Peter driving an ox team through the village. At first he could hardly believe his own eyes. Could it be possible that that was Peter White in that blue frock, and those coarse boots? On the next day a relation from the city came to visit Walter. They walked out, and during the day Walter saw Peter coming towards them with his team. He was hauling lumber which Mr. Stevens had been getting out during the winter. Walter saw how coarse and humble his clerk-mate looked, and he knew that Peter would hail him if they met; so he caught his companion by the arm and dodged into a by lane. Peter saw the movement, and he understood it, but he only smiled. By and by the snow was all gone from the hill-side. The wintry garb was removed from that spot sometime before it left other places, for Peter's lot lay on the southern slope of the hill, and thus had all the advanages of the warm sun all day without any of the cold north and east winds. The youth found his land verv rocky, but none of them were permanent; so his first move was to get off some of these obstructions, and as Mr. Stevens' land was not yet clear from snow, he was able to give his young workman considerable assistance. They took two yokes of oxen and two drags, and went at it and in just five days every rock was at the foot of the slope, and made into a good stone wall. Peter then hauled his hundred loads of manure which he had bought for seventy-five dollars, had part of it plowed in, and part he saved for the top-dressing.

Peter now worked early and late, and much of the time he had help. Mr. Stevens was surprised at the richness of the soil, but there was reason for it, At the top of the hill there was a huge ledge, and the rocks which had encumbered the hill-side, must, at some former period have come tumbling down from the ledge; and these rocks, laying there for ages, perhaps, and covering neaaly half the surface of the ground, had served to keep the soil moist and mellow.—The first thing Peter planted, was about a quarter of an acre of water melons. He then got in some early garden sauce, such as potatoes, sweet corn, peas, beans, radishes, cucumbers, tomatoes and so on. And he got his whole piece worked up and planted before Stevens' farm was free from snow.—People stopped in the road and gazed upon the hillside in wonder. Why had that spot never been used before? For forty years it had been used as a sheep pasture, the rocks having forbidden all thoughts of cultivating it. But how admirably it was situated for early tillage; and how rich the soil must have been, with sheep running over it so long. An adjoining hill shut off the east winds, and the hill itself gave its back to the chill north.

Peter had planted an acre of corn, an acre of potatoes, and the rest he had divided among all sorts of produce. Then he went to work for Stevens again, and in a few weeks he had more than paid for all the labor he had been obliged to hire on his own land.

In the meantime, again, Walter Sturgis had been looking after employment. His hundred dollars were used up to the last penny, and just then he accepted a place in one of the stores in the village, at a salary of three hundred dollars a year. He still wondered how Peter White could content himself in such business. Peter used to be invited to all the little parties when he was a clerk, but he was not invited now. Walter Sturgis went to these parties, and he was highly edified by them. Also, when Peter was a clerk, there were several young and handsome damsels who loved to bask in the sunlight of his smiles, and one of them he fancied he loved. After he had got his hillside planted, he went to see Cordelia Henderson, and he asked her if she would become his wife at some future period, when he was prepared to take such an article to his home. She told him she would think of it and let him know by letter. Three days afterwards he recieved a letter from her, in which she stated that she could not think of uniting her destinies with a man who could only delve in the earth for a livelihood.—Peter shed a few tears over the unexpected note, and then he reasoned on the subject, and finally blessed his fate, for he was sure that such a girl was not what he needed for a wife.

When the first of July came, Peter reckoned up his accounts, and he found Mr. Stevens was owing him just two dollars, and all he owed in the world was the seventy-five dollars for manure. On the third day of July he carried to the hotel ten dollars' worth of green peas, beans and radishes; and in three days afterwards he carried to the city twenty-eight dollars worth. Towards the end of the mouth he had sold one hundred and thirty dollars worth of early potatoes, peas, beans, &c. Then he had early corn enough to bring him fifteen dollars more. Ere long his melons were ripe, and a dealer in the city had engaged them all. He had six hundred fair melons for which he received fourteen cents apiece by the lot, making eighty-four dollars for the whole.

During the whole summer, Peter was kept busy in attending to the gathering and selling of the products of his hillside. He helped Mr. Stevens in haying, and about some other matters—enough so that he could have some help when he wanted it. When the last harvesting came, he gathered in seventy-eight bushels of corn and four hundred bushels of potatoes, besides turnips, squashes, pumpkins, etc., and eighteen bushels of white beans.

On the first day of November, Peter White sat down and reconed up the proceeds of his land, and he found that the piece had yielded him just five hundred and five dollars, and besides this he had corn, potatoes, beans and vegetables enough for his own consumption. That winter he worked for Mr. Stevens at getting out lumber for twenty-five dollars per month; and when spring came, he was ready to go at his land again.

In the meantime, Walter Sturgis had worked a year at a fashionable calling for three hundren dollars, and at the end of the term he was the absolute owner of just two dollars.

Say, Peter, you aren't going to work on that land of yours another season, are you? asked Walter, as the two met in the street one evening.

But here's Simons wants a clerk, and I told him I guessed you would be glad to come.

What will he pay?

Three hundred.

Ah, Walter, I can make more than that from my land.

Sturgis opened his eyes in astonishment.

Yon're joking, he said.

No, sir, I received five hundred and five dollars in money last season. Seventy-five of that went for manure; but some of that manure is now on hand, as I found the land so rich last year as not to need much more than half of it. This season I shall have two hundred dollars worth of strawberries, if nothing happens unusual.

And you don't have to work any winters to do this?

No, four months labor is about all I can lay out to advantage on it.

Walter went to his store, and during the rest of the evening he wondered how it was 'that some folks had so much luck.

During the second season Peter had experience for a gnide, and he filled up many gaps that he left open the year before. His strawberries turned out better than he had anticipated, and he made a better arangement for his melons. And then from all that land whereon he planted his early peas, etc., he obtained a second crop of much value. It was but one hour's drive into the city, and he always obtained the highest prices, for he brought the earliest vegetables in the market.

On the first day of the next November he had cleared seven hundred dollars for the season over and above all expences.

One morning after the crops were all in, Peter found a man walking about over the land, and as the young man came up the stranger asked him who owned the hill side

It is mine, sir, replied Peter.

The man looked about, and then went away, and on the next day he came again with two others. They looked over the place, and they seemed to be dividing it off into small lots. They remained about an hour and then went away. Peter suspected the land was wanted for something. That evening he stepped in at the post office, and there he heard that a railroad was going to be put through the village as soon as the workmen could be set at it.

On the next morning Peter went out upon his land, and as he reached the upper boundary and turned and looked down, the truth flashed upon him. His hill side had a gentle, easy slope and the view from any part of it was delightful. A brook ran down through it, from an exhaustless spring up in the ledge, and the locality would be cool and agreeable in summer and warm in winter. At the foot of the hill, on the left, lay a small lake, while the river ran in sight for several miles,

Of cource, soliloquized Peter, they think this would make beautiful building lots.—And wouldn't it? Curious that I never thought of it before. And then when the railroad comes here, people from the city will want their dwellings here. But this land is valuable. It is worth—let me see:—say six hundred dollars a year. I can easily get eight or nine hundred for what I can raise here, and I know that two hundred dollars will pay me a good round price for all the labor I perform on it. And then when my peach trees grow up, and my strawberry beds increase—Ho— its more valuable to me than it could be to any one else.

When Peter went home, he could not resist the temptation to sit down and calculate how many house lots his land would make; and he found that his hill side would afford fifty building spots, with a good garden to each one. But he didn't think of selling.

Two days afterwards, six men came to look at the land, and after traveling over it, and sticking up some stakes, they went away. That evening Peter went down to the hotel, and the first thing he heard was:

Aha Pete, you've missed it.

How so? asked Peter.

Why, how much did you get for your hillside?

What do you mean?

Haven't you sold it?

No, sir.

Why, there was a man here looking at it a week or so ago, and to-day he came and brought five city merchants with him, and I can take my oath, that each one of them engaged a building lot of him. One of 'em spoke to me about what a lovely spot it was; and I told him nobody would have thought of building there till you got the rocks off.

But haven't you sold it though?

No, not an inch of it.

Why, that man told me he had engaged to pay four hundred dollars for a choice lot of twelve square rods.

Then he will find his lot somewhere else, I guess, till I sell out.

Some more conversation was held, and then Peter went home. On the following forenoon, the very man who had been the first to come and look at the hill side, called to see Peter, introducing himself as Mr. Anderson.

Let's see—I believe you own some two or three acres of land, up here on the hillside, he said very carelessly.

I own four acres there, replied Peter, very exactly.

Ah, yes—well; it doesn't make much difference. I didn't notice particularly how much there was. I thought I should like to build there, if you would sell the land reasonable, I might like to purchase. It would be enough to afford me quite a garden; tho' I suppose it would cost about as much to till such land as the produce would be worth.

That would depend upon how you worked it, said Peter, dryly.

O yes, I suppose so. But you are willing to sell out, I suppose?

Certainly.

The man's eyes began to brighten,

How much should you want for it? he asked.

Well, I don't know. What could you afford to pay?

Why, I suppose I could afford to pay a great deal more than it is worth. Rather than not have it I would pay— well, say—two hundred dollars, or two hundred and fifty at the outside.

I don't think there is much use of our talking, sir,

But—you paid one hundred only, if I mistake not.

I had my choice between one hundred dollars and the land, and I chose the latter.—But as you seem to labor in the dark, I will explain to you. In the first place, there is not another spot of land in this section of the country that possesses the natural advantages which this land does. I can have my neighbors get their ground plowed; so I have my early sauce in market ahead of all others save a few hot-house owners, whose plants cannot compare with mine for strength and size. Then my soil is very rich, and yields fifty per cent more than most other land.—Now look at this: During the last season I have realized over eight hundred dollars from this land, and next season I can get much more than that, for my strawberry vines are flourishing finely. There are not any two farms in this town that can possibly be made to realize so much money as my hillside, for you see it is the time of my produce and not quantity, that does the business. A bushel of my early peas on the twenty-second day of May, are worth ten times as much as my neighbor's bushel on the first of July and August. Two hundred dollars will more than pay me for all my time and trouble in attending to my land; so you see I have this year six hundred dollars interest.

Then you wouldn't sell for less than six hundred, I suppose? said Mr. Anderson, carefully.

Would you sell out a concern that was yielding you a net profit of six hundred dollars a year for that sum, sir? asked Peter.

A-hem—well—ah—you put it rather curiously.

Then I'll put it plainly. You may have the hillside for ten thousand dollars.

Mr. Anderson laughed; but he found that Peter was in earnest, and he commenced to curse and swear. At this, Peter simply turned and left his customer to himself, and he saw nothing more of the speculator.

Two days afterwards, however, three of the merchants came to see our hero, and when they had heard his simple story, they were ready to do justly by him. They went up and examined the spring, which they found to be pure as crystal, and as it was then a dry season they saw that the supply of water could never fail, and all the houses which might be built on Peter's land could be supplied with running water, even in the very attics of the upper ones.

The merchant first went to the man who owned the land above Peter's, including the ledge and the spring, and he agreed to sell for two hundred dollars. This, to builders, was a great bargain, for the stone of the ledge was excellent granite. Then they called a surveyor and made a plot of the hillside, whereby they found that they could have forty building lots, worth from two hundred and fifty to four hundred dollars each. They hesitated not a moment after the plot was made, but paid Peter his ten thousand dollars cheerfully.

Ere many days after this transaction, Peter White received a very polite note from Cordelia Henderson, asking him to call and see her, but he did not call. He hunted up Mr. Somers and went into business with him, and this very day Somers & White do business in that town, and Walter Sturgis is their book-keeper. And in all the country there is not a prettier spot than the old hillside. The railroad depot is near its foot, and it is occupied by sumptuous dwellings in which live merchants who do business in the adjacent city.

One thing Peter missed—that he did not reserve a building spot for himself. But his usual good fortune attended him, even here. A wealthy banker had occasion to move to another section of the country, and sold out his house and garden to Peter, for just one half *w*hat *t*he building cost *h*im. So Peter took a wife *w*ho loved *h*im *w*hen *h*e dug in *t*he eart*h*, and found a *h*ome for *h*er and *h*imself upon *t*he old *h*illside,

And now, reader, *w*here do you *t*hink *t*he *h*illside is? Per*h*aps you know; for it is a veritable *h*istory I *h*ave been writing, and *t*he place I *h*ave told you about is now one of *t*he most select suburban residences.

THE CURRENTS OF NATIONS.—The official returns of emigration from Great Britian to other countries present the question of decrease of emigration in a somewhat striking light. It appears from these, that in 1854, there left for the United States 193,065 emigrants; and in 1855, 103,414; for British North America, in 1854, 43,761; in 1855 17,966; for Australia, in 2354, 83,237; in 1855, 52,309. Total in 1854, 323-429; in 1855, 176,807. According to the same authority the returns from the provinces show a similiar falling off. New Brunswick has 1,405 arrivals in 1855 against 3,618 in 1854; Quebec, 21,274 this last year against 53,183 of the year preceding. In the schedule of the nativity of emigrants arriving at Quebec, it appears that 20,267 Irish arrived there in 1854, and last year only 5,691; 11,034 Germans in 1854, and in 1855 only 3,815: 7;353 English in 1854, and 4,310 in 1855. 7,186 Scotch the one year, and 5.348 this last year; and 5,811 Norwegians in 1854 against 1,288 in 1855. These figures present important facts. The emigration from Great Britain to our country has fallen off to fifty-three per cent. of what it was in 1854; the Austriian is only sixty-four per cent. of its tformer amount; and the emigation to the provinces is but twenty-four per cent. of what it was in 1854. Taking the last quoted returns, we find that the whole emigration to the province is but thirty-nine per cent. of its former number.; while the whole emigration to the United States is forty-three per cent. of what it was the year before last; that is,the British provinces where the immigrant is treated with more than the former hospitality, suffer fourteen per cent. more loss in immigration than our own country. Australia, too, the El Dorado for the emigrant, where no restrictions or persecutions can annoy him, has lost thirty-six per cent. of her immigration from England, and the provinces seventy-six per cent. Of the Irish, nearly four times as many came to Canada in 1854 as in 1855; of Germans, nearly three times; of Norwegians, almost five times; of English, about one and three-quarters as many. These facts show other causes to be working on the decrease of emigration than any political or party movements within our own borders. These movements could not affect the British provinces, except as they are used as a place of transit by the immigrants: they could not thus diminish the number of those who leave England for her own colonies. The laborer is not as he once was in Great Britian. That happy time, long foretold by her economists, is approaching, when "two masters shall seek for one man, instead of two workingmen for one master." Emigration and war have lessened the overcrowded working population. The effacts are felt in the price of labor. This, of course, lessens the tendency of people to emigrate. Intelligent labor is well paid even in Great Britian, and has no inducement to change place. Like causes work upon England.—Wages have risen; and war, with the gold mines of Australia, have drawn off the surplus population.—New York Times.

A Loquacious Lady once offered to bet her husband fifty dollars that she would not speak a word for a week. "Done!" said the delighted husband, staking the money, which the lady immediately put in her pocket, observing gravely that she would secure it until the wager was decided.—"Why, madam," said the husband, "I have won it already."—"You are mistaken in the time," said the lady, "I mean the week after I am buried!" The lady went a "shopping" that very afternoon.

Since 1850 up to the present time, 169 persons have been killed, and 279 wounded in this country, by explosions, &c., of lamps containing

A BOND OF UNION.

Louise Duperrier was eighteen years of age; she danced gracefully, sung agreeably and played the piano like the rest of the world; her family thought it was time for her to marry.

Among the young men who visited at their house was Edouard Lavernay, who could make a graceful bow, turn a compliment well, respect the rules of a quadrille, and decipher at first sight a new romance; he was in his twenty-sixth year, and just been admitted to the bar, and was altogether a perfectly suitable husband.

Madame Duperrier assumed one day a very grave air to announce to her daughter that she must prepare to become Madame Lavernay; the Lavernay and Duperrier families having come to an agreement on the reciprocal advantages of a marriage between Edouard and Louise.

Out of respect to that wise custom which prescribes that before the indissoluble knot is tied a young couple should have time to study each others character, it was resolved to allow a reasonable latitude to this mutual investigation, and the signature of the contract was deferred for a fortnight. As Edouard during this time was authorized to visit his betrothed every day, Madame Duperrier thought it her duty to give some instructions to her daughter, which might be summed up thus:

'My child, no caprices, no inequalities of temper, and, above all, no negligences in your toilettee. Your lover, at whatever moment he may present himself, must find you gentle, smiling and perfectly well dressed; marriage is a battle to be gained; be always under arms.'

The task was not difficult. Edouard delighted at a marriage which secured to him two things generally envied, a fine dowry and a pretty wife, took care to present himself in full toilette, morally as well as physically. Could Louise be otherwise than amiable to a lover always gracious, attentive, submissive?

The fortnight of trial passed in a perfectly satisfactory manner on both sides, the contract was signed, and the young couple were conducted in great pomp before the mayor and the cure.

We have shown Edouard and Louise in their character of betrothed lovers, let us look at them now as husband and wife.

Contrary to the assertions of astronomers, who pretend that every moon is composed of four quarters, the honeymoon of the new couple was not prolonged beyond the first. They had yet in their ears the thousand voices which wished them an unalterable felicity, when the first cloud darkened their horizon; yet it was a day which seemed made for happiness; the skies were blue, the sun resplendent.

'No more visits to make, thank Heaven!' said Edouard; 'this is a lovely day, which we can spend as we like.'

'And we shall have a delightful promenade, shall we not?'

'With all my heart; get ready as soon as possible.'

'You need not fear. I shall not make you wait.'

'What a pleasure,' said Edouard, rubbing his hands joyfully, to get away for a little while from this confused, noisy Paris, and breathe the pure air of the country.'

'What did you say my friend?'

'I said that in the month of July, and in weather like this, the country must be in all its splendor.'

'O! the country is very dismal.'

'Do you think so! nothing can be gayer; woods, meadows, flowers, rivulets, birds twittering in the trees,'

'And not a voice to say as we pass along: 'What a handsome couple! I confess I prefer the boulevards.'

'Oh! the boulevards—do you think them pleasant?'

'Charming.'

'Two rows of trees between two rows of houses.'

'But what houses! They are palaces.'

'A pell-mell of carriages and people crossing and hitting each other '

'An agreeable variety of shops and toilettes.'

'Bustle, noise, dust,'

'There is no noise or movement in the country, I must allow, only the silence of the desert and the immobility of the tomb. Come now, confess your defeat with a good grace; the country is death, Paris is life. We will have a walk on the boulevards.'

'Not at all. I have an insurmountable antipathy to the boulevards. We will go to the country.'

'Is this an order?

'A request, and you are too good not to yield.

'To yield to tyranny, however masked, is not goodness but weakness.'

'I am curious to know who the tyrant is?'

'You, sir, who require me to sacrifice my taste to yours.'

'It is rather you, madame, who pay no regard to my wishes, and wish to subject me to your caprices.'

'I assure you that I am not at all disposed to accept the part of a victim.'

'And I certainly shall not consent to be yours.'

Edouard and Louise looked at each other a moment, then, with an air of mutual defiance, they seated themselves, Louise at her piano, and Edouard on a sofa. He tood a book and began to read with imperturbable calmness. The fingers of Louise remained immovable upon the keys, but the agitation of her little feet beating a tattoo upon the floor showed that her nerves were more irritable than those of her husband.

Edouard at length made a movement of impatience.

'This reading interests me, madame; I should like to pursue it uninterupted. This music——'

'Does it disturb you? I am exceedingly sorry, but it is necessary to continue my musical studies.'

'Without touching the keys? A singular method.'

'I am in despair that it does not please you.'

The tattoo became more animated.

'I must withdraw to my study,' said Edouard at length.

'I would not have the presumption to place any obstacle in your way.'

Edouard rose; Louise, as he was about to quit the room, said—

'If however, you should decide——'

'To accompany you to the boulevards? Impossible, madame.'

As he was crossing the threshold of the door, he turned:

'If on reflection, you should conclude——'

'To follow you to the country?' Never, sir.'

Edouard marched out with a measured step, and shut the door with all the gravity of an aspirant to the magistracy.

'It is a declaration of war,' said Louise, indignantly. I accept it.'

From this time, matters became worse and worse every day. Edouard and Louise, more and more irritated against each other, had no other care or occupation than to invent means of annoyance. In their rare conversations, irony and epigram were ever on their lips. Happiness and peace seemed forever banished from the household.

Louise went one day to visit friend; it was raining, and while the ladies were talking of the fashions and the theatre, the master of the house entered, followed by a Newfoundland dog who was both wet and muddy. Happy to find himself under shelter, the animal gave a shake which distributed around him a dew of a very doubtful purity, then began to leap upon the silk dresses of his mistress and Louise, leaving the print of his paws at every bound; at last he stretched himself out on a divan of sky-blue velvet, between two cushions whose embroidery he knawed by way of amusement. On her return, Louise was imprudent enough to describe this scene in no approving terms in the presence of her husband. Her comments were not lost upon Edouard, who returned the same evening with a magnificent Newfoundland dog answering the name of Tom.

At a breakfast which Edouard gave to some of his friends, the conversation turned upon the instincts and habits of animals; each of the guests spoke of his repugnances or p[illegible] cat. 'It is selfish, thieving, cruel,' he said 'its caresses are not marks of affection, but expressions of its wants. When it gets a mouse in its claws, it will restore it to a dreadful liberty, twenty times, for the pleasure of seizing it again. There never was more horrible torture for a pleasure, nor more refined cruelty in an executioner.

After this violent sortie on the feline race, Louise could not live without a cat; she chose a superb Angora, which she christened with the name of Raton.

It may be imagined that there was not an entente cordiale Tom and Raton. Louise, always ready to come to the assistance of her favorite, was lavish of correction to Tom, while Raton received an equal share from Edouard, all which did not increase the harmony of the household.

Among the visitors whom the ties of relationship or their position in the world obliged Edouard and Louise to receive, there were some whom monsieur favored with his affection, while for others he felt repugnance. Madame made it her duty to be very liberal of courtesies to the last, and to reserve all her coldness for the former. It is useless to add that monsieur made rehearsals on the persons whom madame liked or detested.

Edouard naturally gay in his disposition, had a great aversion for sombre colors, particularly black. Louise had suddenly a great passion for this color. She wore black mantillas, black dresses, black hats, black veils; you would have thought she had lost every member of her family.

Retaliation was not long in coming. Louise had said a hundred times that she would not exchange their apartments in the Rue de Rivoli for a palace: Edouard suddenly discovered that the location was too noisy; he gave warning to his landlord, and took lodgings in a dark house in the most deserted street of the Morais.

Music, even in spite of the opinion which Molier puts in the mouth of the professor M. Jordain, was powerless to reestablish harmony. To the great annoyance of delicate ears in the neighborhood, soon as madame begun to play in the key of sol, monsieur would take a predilection for the key of la, and if monsieur found pleasure in the melancholy movement of an adagio, madame commenced immediately one of the most sparkling polkas of her repertoire.

They had lived thus for more than a month. The vase was full; a drop was only wanting to make it overflow. It was not long in coming.

One morning, Edouard, as he was about to go to the court room, perceived Raton nonchalantly extended upon the papers he was to take with him. It was permitted to Tom to take such a liberty but in Raton it was an irreverence which could not be chastised too severely. The indiscreet Angola, vigorously seized by the neck described a curve whose extremity encountered a beautiful porcelain vase, a recent present to Louise from her dearest boarding-school friend. Attracted by the noise, she had no difficulty in detecting the culprit.

'You have taught me, sir, to be surprised at nothing,' she said, picking up the precious fragments.

'Blame this cursed animal, madame, whom I found extended on my papers.'

'This poor animal has only spared you the initiative in a new style of annoyance, which you would doubtless soon have invented.'

'I am lost in admiration of your perspicacity, madame, and especially at the amiability of your conjectures.'

'To predict the future it is only necessary to recall the past.'

'You delight in playing the part of a victim.'

No one will dispute with you the palm in that of tyrant.'

'If the tyranny is so insupportable—'

'The slave should then throw off the yoke! Is that what you were about to say sir!'

'At any rate nothing is easier; husbands have no bastiles at the present day to support this pretended tyranny.'

'If they had, most of them would throw the doors open on condition of never seeing the prisoners again.'

'A not unreasonable conjecture.'

'I have been thinking seriously, for some time, of satisfying your secret desire.'

'Indeed! I have not been accustomed to have my wishes thus anticipated.'

'My mother has already offered me an asylum.'

'Ah! you are a woman of precaution.'

'And of execution.'

'Whenever you wish——'

'This very evening, sir.'

'The sooner the better.'

The quarrel was interrupted by the announcement: 'Here is the doctor, madame.'

Louise had been indisposed for several days, and had given orders that the physician should be sent for.

None of the disputes between the husband and wife had proceeded so far as this; Edouard bowed to the doctor, and went out, merely casting a haughty glance at his wife, which was returned with interest.

What took place between Louise and the physician! Nothing but what is very common. The doctor gravely felt at her pulse, made inquiries respecting her appetite, her diet, the state of her spirits; then, having expressed his opinion in a few words, he wrote a mild prescription and withdrew; yet he hardly departed when Louise sank back into her chair, and tears flowed freely down her cheeks; but her grief was not of long duration. By degrees her brow became more severe; a smile played on her lips; the color returned to her cheeks; her eyes shone.

'Yes,' she exclaimed, 'it is a sacred duty, which I will perform,'—and soon after she added, 'a duty! I will make it a pleasure. I will find my happiness in it.'

She did not go to her mother that evening, as she had threatened.

Edouard did not pass a very tranquil night; though satisfied he was right in asserting his own authority, he reflected that he might have done it with a little less harshness: but the evil was irreparable now; he must meet the consequences with firmness and philosophy.

We may judge of his surprise the next morning when at the breakfast hour he saw Louise take her usual place at table. He looked in vain for any traces of the anger which had animated her the evening before. Her face was perfectly calm, though somewhat pale. Edouard, attributing to illness what was the natural consequence of a sleepless night, thought himself bound at least to make the commonplace enquiry after her health, and said—

'Are you indisposed, madame?'

'I have been, but am quite well now,' she replied, in a tone so gentle as to excite Edouard's surprise.

At the close of the repast, the cook came in to receive her orders.

'I wish you to procure some woodcocks for dinner to-day,' said Louise.

'But I thought madame disliked them.'

'My husband fancies them, that is enough.'

It was a trifling thing, but it was the first concession that Louise had made since their marriage, and her husband said, good humoredly—

'Since we are to have woodcocks you had better invite your uncle Joseph to dine.'

Uncle Joseph was one of those on whom monsieur had most frequently avenged the sarcasms of madame.

Edouard had replied to the civility of Louise by a civility on his part, yet he kept himself on his guard. 'Women are adroit he reflected. 'What they cannot gain by force they attempt to gain by art. Perhaps this unexpected difference is a trap for my generosity. I must be firm as well as courteous.'

The day had commenced too well to end ill. Edouard, in the course of it, recalling the aerial voyage of the unfortunate Raton, began to feel some remorse, and looked around for the poor animal to give it at least the indemnity of a caress; but the Angora was neither on the carpet nor on the divan, nor on the law papers, which had been the starting point for its perilous leap.

'What has become of Raton?' he asked of a servant.

'Raton has gone away. I carried it this morning to madame's mother. Madame has

This was so extraordinary, so incomprehensible, that it had to be repeated before Edouard could believe it.

And his surprise was not greater than that of honest uncle Joseph, when on accepting, somewhat unwillingly, his neice's invitation, Edouard met him with a cordial smile, pressed his hand warmly, and paid him many compliments; and, what was still more agreeable, there was no snarling Tom to salute him as usual with a growl.

'What have you done with Tom?' he asked at length. 'Have you shut him up!'

'I have done better; I have sent him to a brother lawyer who admired him very much, while I was glad to be rid of a troublesome animal who bit my friends and annoyed my wife.

It is necessary to say that during the rest of the day Louise was charmingly amiable, and Edouard overflowing with frank gaiety, and that uncle Joseph, on his return home, declared that now that that dog was gone, the house of his neice was a veritable terrestrial paradise.

The next day, while at her toilet, Louise put her hand, by habit, on one of those black dresses which Edouard particularly disliked, but, recollecting herself she selected the freshest and most coquettish dress in her ward robe, placed a flower in her hair, and another in her corsage, then yielding to the influence of the bright colors of her attire, she began to sing merrily, running from one apartment to another to survey herself in the different mirrors.

Suddenly she encountered Edouard in the passage. Their meeting was like a coup de theatre. Louise in her gay dress, with a smile on her lips, an expression of pleasure on her face and so pretty—then was all the difference between a sulky woman and a woman in good humor.

Edouard's admiration betrayed itself by an involuntary exclamation, but alarmed at this imprudent manifestation he retreated suddenly, in fear of losing that firmness and dignity which he considered it necessary to maintain. When they met again he was better prepared but not less charmed.

'Your toilette, madame,' he said, 'reminds me that our lodgings are rather dismal. Our apartments in the Rue de Rivoli are not yet rented; we can return there if it is agreeable to you.'

Louise showed by a graceful inclination of the head that she felt the value of this generous offer.

'Verily,' she said to herself, 'by force of obeying I am likely to become mistress.'

'I am satisfied with myself,' said Edouard in returning to his apartment. 'Without showing any weakness I have acknowledged an attention by an equivalent one. I have acquitted myself of an obligation like a gentleman, and not like a simpleton.'

In the contentment which this self-approbation inspired, he took his flute and commenced a lively measure. All at once, it seemed to him that a distant piano was responding to the same theme, and with notes not less sparkling. He stops. The piano is silent. He recommences in a still more lively movement; the piano abandons itself to the most brilliant variations.

Is it an allusion? No, certainly, the piano of Louise finds itself for the first time after so long an interval in accord with Edouards flute.

Charmed with a pleasure whose novelty doubled its attraction, our virtuoso now changed the allegro movement to an adagio full of sentiment and tenderness. Immediately the piano murmurs an accompaniment of seraphic sweetness. A touching emulation seems to inspire the two instruments; the flute sighs and weeps; the piano forgets its light and sparkling nature to become mellow and caressing. Carried away by the irresistible power of harmony, the souls of the two performers seem to melt into one. Suddenly, the flute stops; Louise waits for it to recommence; when she hears a step behind her and her husband's arm is around her waist.

Monsieur Jourdain's professor of music was right!

'How pleasant it is to understand each other!' said Edouard one evening after they were established again in their apartments in the Rue de Rivoli.

'Yet we have debarred ourselves for a whole month of that enjoyment,' replied Louise.

'What folly!'

'And the folly would have lasted yet, sir,' said Louise, archly, 'if I had not the inspiration to take the first step.'

'You are an angel! I shall never pardon myself for having allowed you to anticipate me in your generosity.'

'I am too honest, dear Edouard, to let you attribute to generosity what was only the result of a single word of our good doctor. That day I threatened you with a seperation and was fully resolved to execute my foolish menace, but hardly was this magical word pronounced than an entire revolution took place in my ideas; my eyes were open to a new light.'

'And what was this important word to which I owe so much happiness?'

'This word! You must guess it without my pronouncing it. Come!'

Taking her husband by the hand, Louise led him to a little cabinet which had been closed since their return to their former lodgings.

In the midst of the cabinet was a cradle.

"WHAT ARE WE COMING TO!"—This is the question now taking the place of all others, in relation to the alarming condition of our national affairs. What are we coming to!—when murderers and trained bullies sit in the councils of the nation, and their abbettors and supporters occupy the high places of the land! There is but one answer.—We are coming to the ballot box! Those who look for any other mode of settling the questions that now agitate the country, are looking in the wrong direction. Legal and constitutional action is the only resort till this fails. Upon this, and this only, should every freeman fix his eye, and to this umpire turn all his energies. The fullist spirit of '76 suggests nothing else till this has been tried and found wanting—which time will only come when the great experiment of republicanism is proved a failure. Let every true man, then, come to this conclusion, that the ballot-box and nothing else must carry us past this crisis. Let him believe that when this fails, all that is left is not worth the having; and let him approach it with all the faith that would bear an honest prayer to the throne of God. The time is coming, and the freeman should lay back upon it as the soldier leans upon his musket waiting for orders to fire. Decide, as events and acts afford the means, from what comes the fault and from what the remedy—who is doing right and who wrong—and then, in the light of heaven and common sense throw the only weapon of a republican freeman, direct to the mark!

"POP GOES THE WEASEL."—The origin of this popular phrase from a popular song, is involved in obscurity, but the following story from Professor Fowler's "American Pulpit" would seem to indicate that it is a corruption of "Pop goes the weevil:"

"Brother Craven was once preaching in the heart of Virginia, and spoke as follows: 'Here are a great many professors of religion to-day. You are sleek, fat, good-looking, yet something is the matter with you. Now you have seen wheat which was plump, round and good looking to the eye, but when you weighed it, you found that it only came to forty-five or perhaps forty-eight pounds to the bushel, when it should be sixty three pounds. Take a kernel of that wheat between your thumb and finger, hold it up, squeeze it, and—pop goes the weevil. Now you good-looking professors of religion, you are plump and round, but you only weigh some forty-five or forty-six pounds to the bushel.—What is the matter? Ah! when you are taken between the thumb of the law and finger of the gospel, held up to the light and squeezed, out pops the curly head and the whisky bottle.' "

NEW YORK, June 13.

The steamer Erricson from Liverpool May 28, arrived this morning, and the Arabia from Liverpool May 31, arrived at 7 o'clock P. M.

The only feature of importance in the Btitish Parliament has been the moving, by the Earl of Elgin, in the House of Lords, for copies of the dispatches relating to the sending of troops to the Canadas. Lord Elgin expressed his regret that the present differences with the United States should have arisen, and hoped they would be speedily arranged.

Lord Clarendon stated in reply, that Britain had made the amplest apology for the recruiting business, but could not consent to recall Mr. Crampton. That an offer had been made by the British government to refer the Central American question to arbitration, which offer had not yet been accepted; that Britian is animated by the most friendly feeling towards the United States, and such would be eventually admitted by the United States; that notwithstanding language had been used in the Congress of the United States, which if used in Britain, would have been denounced as tending to embroil the two countries; and, finally, that as Lord Elgin had stated, five minutes conversation between Mr. Marcy and Lord Clarendon would suffice to settle the business, he (Clarendon) would willingly meet Mr. Marcy half way across the Atlantic.

Loid Panmare then stated that the troops sent to Canada were merely to replace those withdrawn during the Russian war.

There is a rumor to-day that Lord Elgin is to be sent as plenipotentiary to Washington to endeavor to arrange matters. Another rumor says that Sir H. L. Bulwer will be the envoy.

BOLTON, JUNE 17.

The steamer Arago arrived at her dock at 1 o'clock. She brings Havre and Soutnampton dates of the 4th instant.

The Hermann arrived off Cowes on the 31st ult.; the America at Liverpool on the 1st inst., the Atlantic was off Holyhead afternoon of the 4th.

The excitement in reference to the American question was increasing. The Times says the recognition of Walker is not necessary to be followed by war, although it greatly embitters the dispute. The English Government will act with forbearance, if Crampton is dismissed, and will probably assume a temporising policy till after the Presidential election.

Some of the journals advocate a vigorous policy on the part of England, but the majority counsel firmness with conciliation.

The question of the Danish Sound dues was to be discussed in Parliment on the 6th.

The Times also says the dismissal of Mr. Dallas must follow immediately that of Mr. Crampton.

The latest intelligence from the United States caused a flatness in the money market.

The Daily News reiterates the hopes of the Times on the preservation of peace, and considers that if a war should take place, it would only be looked upon in the light of a civil one.

The other leading morning journals view the matter in the same light.

Later.

The London Times of the 4th, says that from further information received, it considered that war was daily becoming more imminent, whilst the Daily News adheres to the improbability of such an event.

TWO WEEKS
LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

Murder of James King Editor of the Bulletin!

NEW ORLEANS, June 11.

The steamer Daniel Webster, from San Juan 6th, arrived to-day, bringing California dates of the 20th of May.

Great excitement exists at San Francisco in consequence of assissination of James King, editor of the Bulletin, in the streets, by a man named Casey. The affair occurred on the 14th, and King died on the 16th. Casey was arrested and committed to jail, but the citizens had become very excited in the matter, and a meeting of the old vigilance committee was called. Placards of an inflammatory nature were posted, calling upon the citizens to take the law into their own hands.

On the 18th, 3000 citizens completely organized into divisions and companies, and armed with muskets, marched by three streets from the Committee rooms, and taking possession of the jail, took thence Casey, together with Cora, the gambler and murderer of Gen. Richardson, and carried them to the Committee rooms. Here they were kept strongly guarded up to the time of the sailing of the steamer. It was supposed they would both be hung by the mob.

The whole city was draped in mourning for the death of Mr. King, who was highly esteemed.—Casey was formerly an inmate of Sing Sing prison, a statement of which fact in King's paper led to the difficulty.

The Vigilance Committee had fully reorganized throughout the State, and have, it is said, a fund of $75,000, and are determined to drive all the gamblers from the State.

Gen. Walker's position in Nicaragua was unchanged. The cholera, black vomit, &c., were raging among the troops.

The Panama riots had been settled, and the road is now considered safe for travellers.

RATHER HARD ON US.—When the editor of the Montreal Advertiser heard that Crampton was dismissed, he didn't say much, but he went straight to his desk and wrote this country "all to flinders" in a very few moments. We file off the following from his thunderbolt;

"The men of the revolution are dead, their inferior children of 1812 are in their dotage; the present generation raised on hot cakes, and fixens, are stimulated with tobacco juice, is all talk and no cider, as destitute of the stamina on which courage is founded as its mothers are of flesh. Look at the women; charming at sixteen, faded at twenty, toothless at twenty-five, hideous at thirty, dividing their time between their rocking chairs and beds, incapable of exertion, incompetent to exercise, ever ailing, listless, lazy, straight up and down, like an old fashioned clothes pin, making up the deficiency of their developements with whalebone, cotton and bran—are these things to suckle heroes? The race, has deteriorated, and is dwindeled away; and but for the constant introduction of new and healthy blood for emigration, would disappear in a century."

Threatened Collision between the U. S. Troops and the Border Ruffians.

CHICAGO, June 13.

Persons just arrived from Kansas City Monday evening, states that Col. Sumner ordered General Whitfield's army to leave the territory on Saturday, when the whole number, four hundred, left and went to Westpoint, where they were reinforced by 150 Missourians, and returned on Sunday, threatening to hang Col. Sumner if they caught him.

A collision between the United States troops and Whitefield's party was expected, unless the latter change their purpose.

THE STEAMBOAT EXPLOSION AT LONGUEUIL.—The Inquest upon the bodies killed by this accident is now going no. The Montreal Commercial Advertiser says:

"The loss of life is far above the first estimate, and we fear that we do not yet know the worst, and shall not till the boat is raised."

From the testimony of one of the Fireman of the boat as given before the inquest, it would appear that there was gross mismanagement on the part of the Engineer of the boat. This Engineer had been placed there by the builder of the boat and was only to occupy the station for a short time. He was killed by the explosion. The only American as yet mentioned among those killed is "Paul Welch of Monmouth, U. S., last from Waterville," The Advertiser says, "we shall make no comments, until the Inquest is concluded."

More School Rooms.

The annual Reports made to the city Council in March last have just been received from the printers. Among them is the Report of the Superintending School Committee, (the only Report we propose to notice here) the suggestions of which in relation to the great want of additional school houses in this city, deserve the serious consideration of every citizen. We have previously spoken of this want in our midst, knowing from our own observation that not only were there an insufficient number of school rooms in the "Grade District," especially, but that some of those that were used were entirely too ill contrived and uncomfortable for the use of pupils or teachers. We are glad to observe that this want did not escape the notice of our Committee, and that they have put the facts in relation to the case before the City Council in such a manner as to convince every one of its members that a great want in this respect really exists. We hope that being convinced of the need of improvements in this regard, there will be little use of further argument about the matter; and that as soon as the financial condition of the city will possibly admit of it we shall see the recommendations of the Committee carried into actual effect.

We quote the following from the Report alluded to:

"School rooms suited to the purpose, and in sufficient number to accommodate the children of school age are at present the greatest want of our schools. We speak particularly of the grade district, where there were, in May, 1855, no less than 2520 children between 4 and 21 years of age, (which is 85-100 of all the children in the city,) and probably if the census were taken to-day, that number would be not less than 2700. And yet we have in this district but 16 school rooms, the most of which are of small size. But take the official census for the number of scholars in the grade district, viz: 2520; sixteen school rooms to 2520 scholars, gives one room to 157 pupils; and yet no one of those rooms can possibly accommodate even 100 scholars. They have all, therefore, as you may well suppose, been crowded to excess during the winter term, much to the inconvenience and detriment of the scholars, who cannot receive the attention they need from a teacher who is distracted, and his time divided into infinitesimal fragments by the multiplicity of classes, and studies, and recitations, which must be crowded into a single day. This hurry and embarrassment are unfavorable to the maintenance of order, and weigh heavily upon many schools, as an impediment to thoroughness in instruction. Seven of our winter schools had on their registers 91, 95, 102, 103, 128, 130, 146 scholars, respectively. Yet the largest of our school rooms cannot accommodate even the lowest of these numbers. The school house on Crescent street, or the Ingraham house, so called, the latest built, the largest and most commodious in the city, is but 31 x 32 feet inside, with seats and desks to accommodate about 84 pupils in each department, or less than 175 in all; yet there have actually been in attendance in those two school rooms during the past winter no less than 274 pupils! And the neighboring schools have been all equally crowded, and in them, and in the High School, portable desks and tables, and chairs have been carried into the floors and aisles to provide opportunities of study for the extra number of scholars. It will be readily seen that school houses which were adequate to the necessities of our population, ten or even five, years ago, will by no means answer at present, in a community like ours, which is growing continually larger and more dense, by a regular law of increase, notwithstanding the occasional checks from reverses in business, which are exceptional and temporary."

The Committee recommend the erection of "at least one School House, in some central position, to contain three rooms, one for the High School (which greatly needs a larger and better room,) and two others for an additional Grammar and Intermediate School." These rooms, they remark further, would relieve the other schools of their excess of numbers, the grade district being so compact. They very wisely recommend the erection of brick buildings, both for security against fire, and durability, as well as actual economy.

We speak of these matters at a time, perhaps, when little can be done towards effecting the desired object; but it is well for our people to be prepared beforehand to do what, as the Committee remark, "cannot be delayed for another year, without damage to the schools at large through the district, and discredit and dishonor to the city."

The Man For President.

A late number of the Boston Advertiser, a paper distinguished for its "respectability" and "conservative" spirit, has an article from which we make the following extract which shows what sort of a President, in the opinion of the Advertiser, the exigencies of the times demand. There is just about enough of the conservative and of the "Young American" sentiment in the article to reflect the views of at least a very respectable portion of the people. We present it that the reader may decide for himself upon that point.

"Two great parties have nominated for President, statesmen, either of whom present more decided qualifications for the discharge of his duties, than any President, who has been elected by the people, in the last twenty eight years. These two nominations have been made in homage to a great party, which it is the fashion to call dead, in homage to a great principle which is deeply seated in the hearts of the American people. Two points are thus gained.

It may be that a third point shall be gained as happily. It may be that the Republican Convention, eager to make good the boast of their partisans, that they represent, not a section, but the nation, will be willing to make a nomination, which shall be equally acceptable to the great conservative body, whose first feeling in politics is attachment to the Constitution. We have no right to obtrude our advice upon the members of that Convention, but as we have sometimes found that our advice was more acceptable to our opponents than it always is, when we offer it to our friends, we venture to suggest to the delegates to Philadelphia, what sort of nomination they must make, if they would come out anywhere but third in the conflict.

1. They will find it advisable, we believe, to do as the other two parties have done, and renounce the wish to reward any old standard-bearer, by the offer of the Presidency. The gift of the Presidency, indeed, is of too much value ever to be spoken of simply as a reward. An able, energetic, cool, prudent, and sensible man must be had for President, whether he have served a party, or have not, in the intrigues of past years.

2. Convulsed, distressed, sad, and despairing, though this country is, it wants no man for President, who has in any way assisted in convulsing, or distressing it. No man can be chosen President who has either lighted or fanned the flames of passion which are destroying us. No man should be. And this condition sets aside many gentlemen of first-rate ability who are now serving the Republican party.

3. There is an element of weakness in each of the other two nominations, for each of them is the nomination of a man known for many years as a lawyer and politician. Now there is a growing impression in this country, that to secure high executive ability, we often need to turn from men trained to discussion, and seek men trained in walks of life wider than the Senate-chamber or the Court-house. A man of science and letters, named Franklin, made the best diplomatist this country ever had. A civil engineer and soldier, named Washington, was the President of her Presidents. Now the Republican party can justly gain immense accessions to its vote, if it will resist the temptations to name a brilliant intriguer, or a brilliant talker, and select an executive man, known to the business, or a man of science, would, other things being equal, secure vastly more strength, because he would deserve vastly more, than a mere man of party.

We have no desire, nor indeed, right, to suggest any such person to the convention, but we tell the convention very plainly, that if it wants the support of conservative men at the north, it must name some such man. We might say that if the republican party is so deep in politics that it has no such man, we have. If the republicans like to come borrowing, as the Americans have done, we can accommodate them. Indeed, we have no lack of old Federalists, as true to their country in 1812 as Mr. Buchanan was. But we will not permit ourselves to doubt, that, in the present crisis, the convention will really seek the interests of the country so far as to find a man whom it can safely offer, not as a mere politician, but as a man of principle, sense, and ability; not as the chief of a party, but as the President of a united nation.

Such a candidate, nominated in that spirit, would undoubtedly secure a large accession of strength, which any other spirit would fling away.

The Burial of CONRAD HEYER at Waldoboro' took place on Tuesday with military honors. Our readers will remember that Captain Berry's Company, the Rockland City Guards, were honored with an invitation to assist in the burial. That company, attended by the Rockland Brass Band, left here on Tuesday morning arriving at Waldoboro' at about ten o'clock, where they were received by the "Conrad Guards" who gave a collation in the Hall in Tibbett's Block. The ceremonies of the burial took place at about two o'clock, the Waldoboro' company being attended by the Bath Brass Band. The exercises are said to have been impressive and witnessed by a large number of spectators.

The City Guards returned to Rockland the same evening.

THE ANTI-FILLMORE AMERICAN CONVENTION which assembled at New York on the 12th inst, adjourned on Tuesday, to meet again on Thursday (to-day) after having on the tenth ballot, expressed its preference for Hon. Wm. A. Banks as a candidate for President and Ex-Governor Wm. F. Johnston of Pa., for Vice President.—The vote, however, was given informally and intended as in some measure subordinate to the action of the Republican Convention, which met on Tuesday. The expressed wish of the N. Y. Convention was to unite with the Republicans upon a good man of the right stamp and who would thus be more certain of an election. A despatch from Philadelphia dated the 17th, says that Banks declines the nomination and is in favor of Freemont. It is not improbable that the nomination to be made at Philadelphia will be accepted by the North Americans, and we may be able to inform our readers as to this before going to press on Thursday.

THE MAINE STATE REGISTER, AND BUSINESS DIRECTORY FOR THE YEAR 1856.—We are indebted to the Publisher, Mr. Edward C. Parks, for a copy of the above most excellent work. It is unquestionably the most perfect business directory of Maine ever published. It embraces the names of all the State and County officers, the titles of the laws and resolves of 1855, the mercantile, professional, manufacturing, and mechanical departments, accurately compiled and alphabetically arranged under their respective headings, as well as a great variety of other useful information not to be found collected in any other book. Every lawyer, every physician, every business man should have a copy of this work. Once in possession of it, we venture to say he will never do without it. Immense pains have been taken to have the work reliable and accurate; and as said above, it will be found nearly so in every respect. We say, buy the book and keep it in your office or counting room. It may be obtained at the Bookstores.

☞ JIM MYERS "Great Show" is really "on the road" and, as may be seen by reference to the advertisement, will exhibit in Rockland on the 27th inst.,—a week from next Friday. It is said to be a "great institution." and it promises to attract a large crowd from out of town.

☞ JOE PENTLAND'S CIRCUS will exhibit in this city on the 28th, of this month, both in the afternoon and evening. Hernandez, said by many to be "the greatest of living riders," and Mad'lle Elouise, a very accomplished lady equestrian, are among the performers. The celebrated Nicolo Family, late from the French Exhibitions, and other distinguished characters are connected with this circus. There will be a grand rush when this exhibition comes off.—"For further particulars see large and small bills."

☞ Neighbor Smart of the Free Press predicts that in ten years Pierce's administration will be as generally approved as that of Jefferson or Jackson! The same paper presumes that "a growing conviction in favor of the one term principle, and an idea that many resentments would be appeased, led some to look for other candidates."

☞ Hon. Hannibal Hamlin the other day resigned his seat as Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, at the same time proclaiming his position as opposed to the Cincinnati platform. A notice of his remarks may be found under our Congressional head.

Senator Hamlin has long been considered as one of the most influential political men in the State, and the Republicans can but regard this declaration of his position as a very gratifying fact.

☞ A few typographical errors crept into the communication of "*" in our last. In the beginning of the third paragraph instead of "the spirit of the gospel will not condemn a "peaceable" resistance, &c., read "forcible" for peaceable.

☞ The Steamer SANFORD and all of her excellent and obliging officers are giving the public great satisfaction. She is a capital boat, with excellent accommodations, and travellers who take her to Boston or up the river will find everything to their liking. We are glad to see her extensively patronized this summer. Mr. M. W. Farwell is her agent here.

☞ The Democrt says Mr. Knowlton's lecture at Beethoven Hall was a "failure!" and that "never was man declining more rapidly in the estimation of the public, both in moral and mental worth, than Mr. Knowlton."

Mr. Democrat you know better! What is to be gained by such misrepresentations of even a political opponent?

BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION.—The annual State Convention of the Baptist denomination of this State assembled in this city on Tuesday, and will adjourn this evening. The number of Clergymen and others in attendance from abroad is large, and the meetings have been very interesting. We are disappointed in not having a full report of the proceedings; but having been unable to attend more than a few of the meetings [illegible]pelled to go to press without it.

For the Gazette.

MR. EDITOR:—I notice the article I wrote for the Gazette of the 5th inst., does not meet the approval of the Editor of the United States Democrat. He says he cannot inflict a more severe chastisement than to compare my statement with the actual facts as demonstrated by the reports of the investigating committee, he then quotes:—

"Mr. Brooks, who is said to be a relative of Mr. Butler, accompanied by a number of his friends, armed with heavy canes for the purpose, entered the Senate Chamber of the United States and selecting a time when but few were present to interfere, approached Mr. Sumner as he sat writing at his desk and not in a position to defend himself, without giving him any notice or time to rise from his seat, secure himself, in the protection of his friends, he struck Mr. Sumner."

There is nothing in the above statement that conflicts with the statement of the majority of the committee. They say—"it does appear, however, that the Hon. Henry A. Edmundson of Virginia and of the House had been previously informed of the purpose of Mr. Brooks to commit an assault upon Mr. Sumner, and that they anticipated that the assault would take place in or near the Senate Chamber, about the time the occurrence did take place." Mr. Keitt was in the Senate Chamber and Mr. Edmundson in a room adjoining at the time the attack was made, and it is proved that Mr. Keitt rushed up with a cane in a threatening manner when the bystanders attempted to protect Mr. Sumner from the blows of Mr. Brooks, and that Mr. Edmundson entered the chamber soon after Mr. Sumner fell. It appears by this statement that Keitt and Edmundson knew that the attack was to take place about that time, and were near by to attend to it as the friends of Brooks. Mr. Keitt rushed up with a cane in a threatening manner when the bystanders attempted to interfere. According to Mr. Webster "to accompany" is "to attend as an associate." Any ordinary person of ordinary understanding can see there is no conflict between my statement and the statement of the committee.

The Editor of the Democrat appears to object to two points in my communication; one, that Mr. Sumner had no notice before Brook struck him; the other that Brooks was not accompanied by any one. "These statements," he says, "are falsehoods, and I must be knavish or foolish to make them." I maintain that both statements are correct.—On the first point, Mr. Wilson United States Senator, says, that "while Mr. Sumner was engaged with his pen in hand and in a position which rendered him utterly incapable of protecting or defending himself, Mr. Preston S. Brooks, a member of the House from South Carolina, approached him unobserved and abruptly addressed him. Looking up and before he had time to utter a single word in reply to him he received a stunning blow on the head from the cane of Mr. Brooks which made him almost senseless and unconscious." Mr. Sumner says in his testimony before the Committee of investigation as I looked up with pen in hand, I saw a tall man whose countenance was not familiar standing directly over me and at the same moment caught these words. 'I have read your speech twice over carefully it is a libel on South Carolina and Mr. Butler who is a relative of mine,' while these words were still passing from his lips he commenced a succession of blows with a heavy cane on my bare head by the first of which I was stunned so as to lose my sight." He says that he was entirely without arms of any kind, and that he had no notice or warning of any kind, direct or indirect, of this assault. On the second point the Editor says the facts show conclusively that Brooks was not accompanied by a single individual. The facts show that Keitt, Edmundson, Toombs and others, who approved of the act, were near by, and we have every reason to suppose were ready to protect him if necessary. All the papers concur in this; but I will make but one extract. In the United States Democrat of May 29th we find the following important information from a letter dated Washington, May 22d, "Mr. Sumner was sitting in his place writing after the adjournment, when Brooks came up to him interchanged some words and then struck him on the head with a large cane, Brooks repeated the blows a dozen or twenty times. He was accompanied by Mr. Keitt of South Carolina, who attempted to prevent the interference of the bystanders in Mr. Sumner's behalf."—This statement which he prints himself, in the next paper he denies. He advises taking information from the United States Democrat, but there is no safety in that, for what he publishes to day he will deny in the next paper. But the case requires no further comment; every one who is in the habit of reading understands it. As for his slang and the terms "knavish" or "foolish,"—it requires but a small degree of intellect to use such terms. To a mind deficient in the powers of reason and argument they in some degree supply the lack of brains. I am one of those who wish no ill to any one, and seldom have any contention.

The editor of the United States Democrat is personally unknown to me, though residing in the same city; of course I had no ill will to him; I did think his article on the Sumner case far from right and I thought proper to notice it. I do not think he has dealt fairly in his reply. There should be no apology made for Brooks; he is little better than a murderer; he should be treated with scorn by all honorable men, spurned as you would shun the reptile it that would be pollution to associate with. These outrages are having their effect; the American Congress is to a great extent a body of armed men; thus the most enlightened, the model Republic of the World, presents the humiliating, the disgraceful example of having her highest legislative body meeting together armed so as at any moment its members may be ready to fight for their lives. For this the Northern men are not to blame. The constitution and laws at Washington afford no protection. Though loud in their professions of attachment to the constitution, many of these Southern men and their Northern allies pay no regard to its requirements. The constitution of the United States in Article 1, section 6, says "for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place." These men swear to support the constitution which guarantees this privilege, and then practically adopt the doctrine that if a member's speech does not suit them they will split his head with a bludgeon. Never was a man more abused there than Mr. Sumner. When he comes to reply, because they cannot answer him in argument, the remedy is to split his head with a bludgeon; for this heroic deed the citizens of South Carolina at various meetings have returned Brooks a vote of thanks and sent him presents. Mr. Webb of the New York Courier and Enquirer, in speaking of things at Washington, says the Southern men, many of them; go armed with canes and revolvers and have frequently shown that they would use these weapons. Ttey assume a domineering manner, and he saw with indignation that the Northern men were frequently cowed by them from fear of personal violence. There is nothing remarkable in this; the Northern men are man attacks one who is unarmed. Cowardly as it is for an armed man to attack one who is unarmed we know it is done and men at the South applaud the act, and some even here among us admire and make apologies for such conduct. If they made attacks only with the arms nature has given them the case would be widely different. The assassin-like habit of going armed is never practised here at the North except by the worst class of ruffians; there Southern bullies seldom attack an armed man; we see their conduct in beating Mr. Sumner; but Mr. Wilson speaks freely and bids them defiance, he is armed and they do not molest him. The northern members have found there is no freedom of speech unless they are armed and ready to defend themselves at a moment's notice. Considering the situation they are placed in, I think they are justified in arming, but these outrages and the course pursued in Kansas hast stirred the public mind more deeply than it has been stirred for the last thirty years. The citizens of this country have a high and important duty to perform—important, not only to this country but to the world, it becomes good and true men to go forward and do their duty fearlessly, and trust the result to the higher power that rules above all.

The National Republican Convention.

We have at the present writing (Wednesday morning) Tuesday evening's edition of the Boston Journal which contains some telegraphic accounts of the Republican Convention now assembled at Philadelphia. The number in attendance was large and the aspect of affairs was "emphatically Fremontish." The Convention was organized in the forenoon by the choice of Hon. Robert Emmett of New York as temporary Chairman, and Geo. G. Fogg of N. Hampshire as temporary Secretary. Mr. Emmett made a stirring speech upon assuming the chair, after which several Committees were appointed, and the Convention adjourned, to meet at 4, o'clock.

Great enthusiasm prevailed, and it was thought that the Convention would finish its business on Wednesday.

After assembling in the afternoon the Committee on permament organization reported the name of Hon. Henry S. Lane of Ohio as President, with twenty-four Vice Presidents and twenty-four Secretaries. The report was unanimously adopted, Col. Lane, Caleb B. Smith of Ohio, Senator Wilson of Mass, and others addressed the Convention.

The question as to the Republican nominee for President is settled as appears by a dispatch received this (Thursday) morning, Col. Fremont is nominated.

The vote on the first ballot stood as follows Fremont 369; McLean 196; Sumner 2; Seward 1; John C. Fremont was then declared unanimously nominated.

No nomination of Vice President had been made at the time the above dispatch was received.

☞ The Bangor Mercury says:—"HON. LOT M. MORRILL of Augusta has renounced his connection with the Democratic party, having written to the State Committee of which he is a member his repudiation of the platform adopted at Cincinnati. Mr. Morrill is a leading man in the party in this State, and is president of the Senate in the present Legislature.

THE WHITE CHIEF—A LEGEND OF NORTH MEXICO, by Capt. Mayne Reid, 1 vol. 12 mo.—Beautifully illustrated. Price $1,25. DeWitt & Davenport, Publishers, N. Y. For sale at Spear's Bookstore.

We have not read this book carefully, though an acquaintance with some of the previous stories of Capt. Reid, such as the "Rifle Rangers," "Hunters Feast" &c.. induces a belief that it is an entertaining work. The volume is said to possess in a remarkable degree that distinctive feature which chacterises his productions generally—that is, the facile manner in which the deep interests in the discovery of the plot is combined with rare and valuable information. The author in this volume has seized upon "one of the exciting episodes in the history of Northern Mexico, and upon a foundation of historical facts has reared a superstructure at once natural and striking."

The following is Mr. McGee's demand upon the Cincinnati Convention for the expulsion of the murderer of Keating:

To the Members of the Democratic National Convention:

101 NASSAU STREET, New York,
May 30th, 1856.

GENTLEMEN—A word spoken in time is said to be worth more than gold, and I beg to offer you such a word, by favor of the Cincinnati press. You will have at your door, I still hope not on your benches, a delegate from California, (Mr. Herbert) on whose hands yet smokes the blood of a poor countryman of mine by birth, lately murdered in a public hotel at Washington. I address a simple, straightforward question—do you mean to admit this man to a seat in your convention? I hope and sincerely hope, you do not. He is now under heavy bonds to stand his trial for the murder of Thomas Keating, and if he has not decency enough to stay away, you knowing all the insulting and unjustifiable circumstances of the case, ought to have feeling enough to keep him out.

Since 1851, a fierce social war has been made on the adopted citizens. So long as it was confined to sectarian presses and midnight mobs, we endeavored to resist it with a firm forbearance. But when a Democratic Member of Congress, and Delegate to your Convention, shoots, before breakfast, a working man, because he resented being called a "damned Irish son of a b—h," it is full time for us to ask you, do you mean to seperate that man from your ranks, or to overlook notorious facts, or to vindicate the equality of all classes of citizens high and low, native and foreign born, in practice as in theory?—Looking anxiously for your decision to your proceedings,

I remain, gentlemen, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant.
THOMAS D'ARCY McGREE.

[This letter was treated with contemptuous silence.]

POLITICAL.—Hon. Lot M. Morrill of Augusta, Me., has renounced his connection with the Democratic party, having written to the State Committee, of which he is a member, his repudiation of the platform adopted at Cincinnati. The Bangor Whig says:

"The Democratic party of Maine has never had in its ranks two abler men or more influential leaders than Hannibal Hamlin and Lot M. Morrill—the former a United States Senator, and the latter President of the State Senate."

DEATH OF ASA CUMMINGS. D. D. The Portland papers are in mourning for the death of Rev. Dr. Asa Cummings, the late veteran editor of the Christian Mirror for a long term of years. The sad event took place on board the steamer George Law, while Dr. Cummings was on his return voyage from Panama, whither he had been to visit a daughter. The body of the deceased was committed to the great deep, there to rest until "the sea shall give up its dead." The age of Dr. Cummings was nearly 66 years.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, June 12.

SENATE.—Mr. Hamlin arose and asked to be excused from serving as chairman of the Committee on Commerce. He said for the nine years he had held a seat in the Senate, he had almost been a silent member upon the subject that had so much agitated the country. He had rarely uttered a word. He loved his country. He loved his country more than he loved any party—more than anything that could agitate and disturb harmony. Although he believed the repeal of the Missouri Compromise was a great moral and political wrong, unequalled in the annals of the legislation of this country; still with a desire to promote harmony, concord and brotherly feeling, he sat quiet amid all the exciting debate which led to that fatal result, and opposed it not by his voice, but by a consistent, steady and uniform vote, not only in accordance with his own convictions, but in accordance with the instructions of his legislature, passed by almost an unanimous vote. But the thing was done in violation of the principles of that party with whom he had always acted, and in violation of the solemn pledges of the President of the U. S. in his Inaugural address. Since however, that wrong had been sanctioned by the Cincinnati Convention in its consummation find its results, he felt it his duty to declare that he could no longer maintain party associations with any party that insisted upon such doctrines, and could support no man for President who allowed and recognized these doctrines; and with whatever power God had endowed him with, it should be used in the coming contest in opposition to that party.

The motion to excuse was agreed to.

Later from Kansas.

ST. LOUIS, June 14. A letter from Lawrence dated the 8th, says that the report that Robinson had been hung by the mob is untrue.—Messrs. Robinson, Brown, Smith, Dietzler and Jenkins were still confined at Lecompton, guarded by U. S. dragoons. Several ladies of Lawrence had been permitted to visit them, but gentlemen were not allowed.

Report says there were two pro-slavery men killed in the skirmish at Franklin, and several wounded, but no Free State men injured. Two pro-slavery men were killed and several wounded in the affray at Palmyra, and three Free State men wounded, but none killed.

Several wagons on the way to Lawrence were robbed of all their contents at Westport. It is reported also that the mails were forcibly searched at Franklin. J. M. Barnard, who was reported to have been killed, is alive. He had been robbed of about $600 worth of merchandise and cattle by a party of Free State men.

NEW YORK, June 14.

Guilty of Murder.

A verdict of guilty was last night rendered in the case of the negro Wilson, charged with the murder on board the schooner Eudora Imogene. The prisoner was immediately sentenced to death.

ARREST OF COUNTERFEITERS.—The police of Camden, N. J., have arrested two men and a woman in that place, on the charge of manufacturing and passing counterfeit money. The parties lived in a style indicative of wealth, but as they appeared to do nothing, their neighbors became inquisitive and suspicious, and one man, whose curiostiy was greatly excited, got upon the top of a house opposite, and discovered the two men at work manufacturing counterfeit money. The police took the matter in hand, and on proceeding to the house of the accused, found all the necessary apparatus for counterfeiting, and some $400 in bogus bank bills.

ICEBERGS ON THE ATLANTIC.—Capt. Couch, of ship George West, at Philadelphia from Liverpool, gives the following report of his passage:

"May 14, lat. 46 10, lon. 41 27, passed a large island of clear, bluish white ice, 70 feet high and half a mile wide. May 20, at 1 A. M., thick fog, the man on the lookout saw at the same moment with the officer of the deck and the man at the wheel, the signal light at the jib-boom end reflect on a large ice island looming up nearly ahead; put the helm hard to starboard, the ship came to the wind quick, clearing the ice by about forty feet on our starboard bow; 8 A. M., passed another on our port bow, having two large blue streaks from the top to the water; the ice otherwise clear and hard, with large quantities of floating field ice away to the southwest; latitude at the time of seeing the first ice 43 degrees, lon. by chronometer 50 degrees 5 minutes on the extreme southern point of the Grand Banks, water down to 32 degrees Fahrenheit; this day the ship made about 40 miles Western, having evidently passed several icebergs, obscured by fog, the wind at times blowing cold and piercing from passing over ice, the water from 32 degrees to 34 degrees Fahrenheit."

SAD DISASTER AT SEA—Seventy-two lives lost. A dispatch from Halifax, to the Gazette, gives the following sad intelligence:

The ship Pallas, Capt. Spillane, from Cork, for Quebec with one hundred and twenty passengers, sighted the coast at Cape Breton, on the morning of the 30th of May.

In the afternoon, the Captain discovered that his compasses varied from one another, and shaped his course between Cape North and St. Paul's Island, when at 10 P. M. the ship struck the breakers off St. Paul's and bilged. The sea washed over the vessel, and the greatest consternation ensued. The panic-stricken passengers rushed into the boats and swamped them, and seventy-two were thus drowned.

In the morning the Superintendent of the Island sent off boats and rescued the remainder.

A vessel had left Sydney to convey them to Quebec. The Pallas is a total loss.

REFUSED.—Bills of the Maratime Bank, Bangor Me., are refused by the Suffolk Bank, and accordingly are not received by the other Banks. Traveller.

FROM VENEZUELA, ST. THOMAS AND BERMUDA. By the steamer Tennessee, at New York from St. Thomas, we have advices from Venezuela to the 1st, and St. Thomas to the 6th inst. The Venezuela congress closed its sittings in May.—The country was quiet. Cases of yellow fever were still occurring at St. Thomas. There were but three American vessels in port. Papers from Bermuda state that H. M., steamer Malacca, from Jamaica, arrived there on the 5th, with thirty five cases of yellow fever on board; she had already lost eleven men during the passage.

The Chamber of Commerce at Nassau, New Providence, has offered a reward of $250 to any person—not a principal—who will give such information as will lead to the conviction of persons making unlawful agreements with captains of vessels for wilfully wrecking property entrusted to their charge.

THE STRAIGHT WHIGS.—The straight whigs will, of course support Mr. Buchanan heartily, and if they do, they should be supported for their full share of the honors of the party. We must remember this in our local nominations the coming fall.—Free Press.

A LIFE SAVED.—The Watchman says that some days since, as the passenger train was backing up from Montpelier junction, a child was discovered standing upon the track. Conductor Hobart and Jefferson Marsh (of Northfield) quickly tried the brake with all their strength; the train could not be stopped—the child stood unmoved—it must die! Mr. Marsh placed himself on the lower step, and as the train advanced swung round his foot and swept the child from the track, saved! Mr. Marsh says that afterwards, and for days he was hardly himself, and even in his sleep he saw the child, and would awake in terror—so severe was the shock to him.—Burlington (Vt.) Free Press.

A JURY PLAYING MARBLES.—At a trial in Charlestown, Va., the jury in the case of Gottlip Collimer for forgery, were out some five or six hours, and were unable to agree, and getting tired of being confined to a small room in the court house, proposed to the constable in attendance to let them out in the front yard, to play marbles, which he did, but forbid them to speak to any person. The scene attracted quite a crowd of the townspeople; the constable had his hands full in keeping the crowd from approaching too near the marbles. The jury having sufficiently amused themselves [illegible] approaching, they concluded it best Kansas—The Free State Men to be Overwhelmed by Missourians.

NEW YORK, June 17. The Washington correspondent of the Commercial Advertiser writes—A gentleman connected with the government service on the borders of Kansas, has just arrived here, and his representations of the actual state of things is alarming. He reports that there is fighting in all the inhabitable parts of the territory. The bands of marauders, called "law and order men," "Kickapoo Rangers," etc., are roving about the territory, killing the unresisting, and stealing and destroying all the property that is found unprotected. The Free Soil settlers rally in small bands for defense, but with little hope of success, in opposition to the United States and Territorial authorities, and the whole power of the State of Missouri. But the most important fact mentioned by him is that at least 4000 or 5000 men are now being organized and armed in Missouri, for the purpose of making a descent upon Kansas, and with the determination to drive out of the territory all the Free Soilers. They will meet with little resistance, and expect none at all from the Governor, or from the United States. They do not think that Col. Sumner will dare to interfere, even if so ordered and if he does, they will drive him out of the territory along with his handful of men. They expect the President to withdraw these troops and to send no more, and that is distinctly the course which the President has been advised within the last few days to take, by the friends of the Atchison party, not only of Missouri, but of other slaveholding States. Two Southern Senators, well known as ultra and violent in their opinions on this subject, have earnestly pressed the President to withdraw all the United States troops from Kansas, and leave the difficulty to be settled by the parties concerned. Should this course be adopted, or what is the same thing, if the troops, insufficient as they are in numbers, should take no decided part, the Missourians and their Southern allies, under the command of Major Buford will soon have exclusive possession of the territory.

Fifty dollars is offered in a New York paper for any book or newspaper, printed within fifty years after the adoption of the constitution which contains the denial of the constitutional power of Congress to prohibit the introduction of slavery into the territories.

Col. John H. George, Frank Pierce's friend, who piloted Brooks into the banquet of the Massachusetts delegation at Willard's Hotel, has been permitted by the New Hampshire Legislature to retire from his office of Solicitor of Merrimac County.

DROWNING IN OLDTOWN, ME. The body of a Frenchman named Bushy was found on the 11th in the mill pond at Milford. He was missed about ten days since, when he had an altercation, and about that time cries of murder were heard at night on the railroad bridge by some of the hands sleeping on board the up-river steamboat. There were no marks of violence upon the body.

Six Steamers Burned—Loss $250,000.

NEW ORLEANS, June 10. The following six steamers were totally destroyed by fire last night, at Algiers: Frank Lyon, Louisa Whitman, New Latona, D. S. Stacy, Delia, and Piota, Loss about $250,00.

Steam Frigate Merrimac.

BALTIMORE, June 16. New Orleans papers of Tuesday of last week are received.

The injury to the U. S. steam frigate Merrimac consists of wearing away the plumer boxes of the engine. The Merrimac had arrived at Key West from whence the Fulton was dispatched to Havana for machinery.

MURDER. Mr. Thomas Applebee, a grocer in Chicago, was brutally murdered in his store, on the night of the 12th inst. A reward of $1500 has been offered for the apprehension of the murderer.

THE BEAUTIES OF MORMONISM.—The Mormon creed not only permits polygamy, but marriage between blood relations. A traveller states that he has met with numerous cases of men who had married both mother and daughter. One bishop married six wives—all sisters, and his own nieces. Brigham Young recently built a stone harem for his ninety wives, but they all revolted and would not go into the cage. Ninety women were too much for one man, and St. Brigham was obliged to give in.—Belfast Journal.

The Mormons are now experiencing hard times at Salt Lake. Food is so scarce that beggary from door to door is as common as in our Atlantic cities. Brigham Young denounces the practice as likely to be an imposture, though he says, where any of the saints have gone five days without food, they ought to make their wants known. Rather a task for a man to support ninety wives in a country where food is so scarce.

MR. BROOKS' UNFORTUNATE MISTAKE.—We have but one thing to depreciate, and that is the fact that Brooks gave Sumner no chance to defend himself. He would have done himself credit if he had, when he announced to Sumner his intention to punish him, added, "Rise and defend yourself," and given him time to free himself from his desk, chair, &c. In not doing this, Mr. Brooks made an unfortunate mistake. [Nashville (Tenn.) Patriot.

This is a mistake which assassins and murderers are very apt to make. The late Richard Crowningshield, Esq., (who made the previous mistake of not being born in South Carolina and becoming a member of Congress from that State) committed the same mistake in his "rencontre" with Mr. Joseph White of Salem—a "painful occurrence" which resulted in the death of the last named gentleman.—[Boston Telegraph.

The Montreal Commercial Advertiser, in noticing the recent steamboat explosion in that city, says:

"The loss of life is far above the first estimate, and we fear that we do not yet know the worst, and shall not until the boat is raised.

State Prison Burned.

LOUISVILLE, June 16. The State Prison at Jeffersonville, Ind., is now on fire, and will probably be entirely consumed.

In the Bay State Mill at Lawrence, on Monday, June 9, John Mahoney was killed by being caught in the main belt of the card room.

The veteran Quincy has backed up his words of sympathy for Kansas, by sending $500 to the committee.

Whig State Convention.

The Whigs of the several cities, towns and organized plantations in the State of Maine, are requested to send delegates to meet in convention, at Bangor, on Tuesday, the first day of July next, at ten o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, taking such action as may be deemed advisable with reference to the approaching State and Presidential elections, and for the transaction of such other business as will properly come before them.

Republican State Convention.

The Republican State Committee have issued a call for a State Convention to be held at Deering Hall in Portland, July 8, at 10 o'clock A. M., to nominate a candidate for Governor, and two candidates for electors at large.

"Each city, town, and organized plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and an additional delegate for every fifty voters, according to the Republican vote for Governor in 1855.—

Jim Myers to the Public.

A report having been put in circulation, through the medium of malicious and interested parties, that M'lle Louise, the young lady who daily makes the grand ascension upon a single wire in front of Jim Myers' Great Show, had fallen and injured herself, the proprietor in publicly proclaiming the heartless falsehood of the whole story, and his contempt for its vile authors, feels impelled by a sense of duty to expose the base motives which instigated the slanderous rumor. The mean falsehood had its origin in one of the hangers on of a rival establishment, who, envious of the well earned popularity and unprecedented patronage lavished upon Jim Myers' establishment, sought to injure it by spreading the report that one of its conspicuous attractions had been destroyed. It affords Jim Myers great pleasure in announcing the perfect health of M'lle Louise, and that, although she has performed her astounding feat daily since the commencement of the season, besides having on previous occasions repeatedly walked across some of the principal streets in Paris at an elevation of 100 feet from the ground, she has never yet fallen off her wire, or sustained the slightest injury from accident of any kind.

And furthermore, Jim Myers has the only show where Cinderella is performed—the only place where a man walks the ceiling feet up and head down—the only exhibition where outsiders can witness a lady make an ascension on a wire 60 feet from the ground—and, in short, the only "Great Show," in the country, and the only one that performs all it promises in its bills.

Persons living at a distance from town are respectfully notified, that M'lle Louise will make her grand ascension in Rockland on Friday, June 27th, at precisely half past one P. M., outside the Pavilion of Jim Myers' great show, walking upon her single wire a distance of 200 feet, and to an elevation from the ground of sixty feet, provided the weather is not stormy. 2w25

☞ The old and true maxim that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, will be fully realized by those who make use of G. W. Stone's Liquid Cathartic and Family Physic, as it cleanses the blood from all impurity, frees the stomach from bile, produces a healthy action of the liver, and perfectly regulates the bowels; it also removes all local pains, prevents and cures dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera morbus, or cholera, strengthens the whole system, and is perfectly agreeable to the taste.—[Vox Populi. 4w25

NEUROPATHIC FLUID,

FOR THE CURE OF

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Cramp, Toothache, Ague in the Face, Cholic, Cholera, all Internal Pains of the Stomach and Bowels, Pain in the Back, Side and Limbs, Cuts, Burns, Chilblains, Cold Feet, Sprains, Spinal Affections, &c., &c.

The subscriber having discovered and thoroughly tested a purely vegetable and almost specific remedy for a large class of painful maladies, hereby invites the afflicted to test for themselves the merits of his invaluable preparation.

For all the complaints in which this compound is recommended, it is confidently believed the public will find no superior.

The Neuropathic Fluid produces its almost Magical effects by its combined Stimulant, Laxative-Tonic and Anti-Spasmodic powers, chiefly directed to the Nervous system, and is warranted free from all narcotic, acrid, or other deleterious properties.

As the proprietor wishes to bestow no false encomiums upon his discovery, he will refund the money paid for the medicine in any case of failure where it has received a fair trial.

Prepared only by N. WIGGIN, and for sale by C. P. FESSENDEN, No. 5, Kimball Block.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S
CELEBRATED FEMALE PILLS.

Prepared from a prescription of Sir James Clarke M. D. Physician Extraordinary to the Queen. This invaluable Medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases incident to the female constitution.

It moderates all excess, removes all obstructions, and brings on the monthly period with regularity. These Pills should be used two or three weeks previous to confinement: they fortify the constitution, and lessen the suffering during labor, enabling the mother to perform her duties with safety to herself and child.

These Pills should not be taken by females during the FIRST THREE MONTHS of Pregnancy, as they are sure to bring on Miscarriage, but at any other time they are safe.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the Back and Limbs, Heaviness, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics Sick Headache, Whites and all the painful diseases occasioned by a disordered system. these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed, and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or any other mineral.

Full directions accompanying each package. Price, in the United States and Canada, One Dollar.

☞ ARNOLD'S VITAL FLUID will be found very refreshing by those who suffer from the heat of warm spring days especially if there is any tendency to biliousness or humor. It purifies, strengthens and vitalizes the blood. By this action it is a source of great relief to those who use it. Its chemical action enables it to produce effects which mere medicinal action cannot obtain.

DISASTERS.

Barque Young Turk, of and from Boston for Shediac, has been before reported lost. Capt Berry made Cranberry Island at 1 A M 3d inst. in foggy weather, and hauled off until 3 AM, when he stood in. At 5 breakers were seen ahead through the haze, and the vessel was immediately brought to the wind, but unfortunately missed stays and swung upon a reef. By means of a kedge she was got afloat, and a pilot coming on board, she stood off some distance, but finding that the leak gained in the pumps, her head was turned landward, with the intention of running her upon the beach but she soon filled with water, and was abandoned, Capt B saving only his chronometer and a few clothes. She sank in 60 fathoms, when the crew had got but ten yards from her. The place where she sank was about ten miles from the S W point of Cape Breton. Capt B was at plaster Cove 6th inst, to leave for Boston first opportunity.

Brig Harbinger, before reported ashore near Fire Island, was got off 14th inst, and was towed to N York. Vessel and cargo have received no damage, beside the 25 or 30 casks molasses that were stove when she first went ashore.

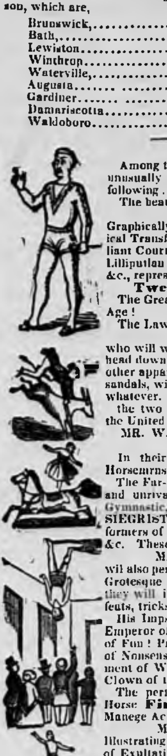
JIM MYERS'S GREAT SHOW IS ON THE ROAD!

With Something Entirely New, Original Brilliant, and Diversified.

AT ROCKLAND, JUNE 27TH.

This great Company will perform in all the principal towns and cities in New England during the present season, which are,

Brunswick,	June 17
Bath,	June 18
Lewiston	June 19
Winthrop	June 20
Waterville,	June 21
Augusta	June 22
Gardiner	June 24
Damariscotta	June 25
Waldoboro	June 26



Among the prominent features of this unusually popular exhibition are the following:

The beautiful Nursery Legend of CINDERELLA! Graphically illustrated, with all its Magical Transformations, Fairy charms, Brilliant Court Costumes and Decorations, Lilliputian equipage, Properties, Music, &c., represented by Twenty-four Children.

The Great Scientific Discovery of the Age!

The Laws of gravitation Suspended, by JIM MYERS, who will walk over a ceiling, feet up and head down, on a polished surface, with no other apparatus than a pair of smooth sandals, without any trick or deception whatever.

the two most popular equestrians in the United States.

MR. W. W. NICHOLS and MISS LOUISA WELLS,

In their choice acts and scenes of Horsemanship.

The Far-Famed and World-Renowned and unrivalled German ACROBATS and Gymnastic, Masters. THE BROTHERS SIEGRIST, the inventors and first performers of "La Perche," "La Trapez," &c. These artists, together with will also perform in their very celebrated Grotesque Ballet Pantomine, in which they will introduce all their wonderful feats, tricks, and comic changes.

MADAME SIEGRIST,

His Imperial Highness, JIM MYERS Emperor of all the Clowns! High Priest of Fun! Prince of Jesters! Grand Duke of Nonsense! and the soul and embodiment of Wit! The now only recognized Clown of the times.

The performances of the Magnificent Horse Fire Fly, rode in the Grand Manege Act by

MRS. C. L. NIXON,

Illustrating in a series of beautiful Feats of Exultation, a Modern School of Lady Equestrianism with the saddle.

MR. DAVIS RICHARDS,

an Equestrian attached to my establishment, will do more feats upon a bare backed steed, without saddle or bridle, than any other rider in the world can accomplish upon a pad or saddle, with all the usual performing accessories.

Gratuitous outside Exhibitions: The CAR OF BEAUTY. In the forenoon on the day of the Company's arrival in town a magnificent procession will be given by the troupe, through the principal streets, in which will appear the MAJESTIC CAR OF BEAUTY with a superb Tableau Vivant, formed by 30 children, representing the characters as they appear in CINDERELLA, in full dress.

About half an hour previous to opening the doors of the great pavillion of Exhibition, should the weather permit, A TERRIFIC ASCENSION UPON A SINGLE ELASTIC WIRE, by a lady, M'lle LOUISE, will be made outside the pavillion to a height of fifty feet from the ground.

Persons living at a distance from town are notified that the Grand Procession, including the Car of Beauty, will take place between 9 and 11 A. M., and the Ascension by M'lle LOUISE upon the Wire about 1 P. M.; to witness both of which there will of course be no charge.

Admission to the Pavillion, and the entire great Show, 25 cents. No half price.

TWO PERFORMANCES WILL BE GIVEN. Afternoon, commencing at two o'clock, and in the Evening—commencing at 7 o'clock;—the doors being open half an hour previously. See particulars in other bills.

himself first saw the light in Providence, in 1829, and commenced his equestrian career with the veteran Aaron Turner, a manager who has raised more distinguished performers than all the others in the profession put together.

DAVIS RICHARDS

was born in Virginia in 1832, apprenticed to Gen. Rufus Welch in 1841. Nine years after he made his first bow to a Philadelphia audience in the great act in which he has no equal.

W. W. NICHOLS

claims North Adams, Mass., as his birth place. He commenced the study of the equestrian art with his brother, S. H. Nichols, in 1830, and is now the greatest backward somerset rider in the world.

AUGUSTE AND FRANCOIS SIEGRIEST.

Twin brothers, look to the banks of the Rhine for their home, and when quite young were placed under the tutelage of Monsieur Tournaiure, then the most accomplished teacher in Europe.

THOMAS WYATT,

he great Proteau rider, first opened his eyes in N. York.

MONS. BENCIT,

from Paris, the most expert trainer of horses in America, whose skill can be seen in the performances of the splendid horse "Fire-Fly."

M'LLE LOUISE

the pupil of the celebrated Cooke.

MRS. L. C. NIXON,

an American equestrienne, of whom it may be said with truth that she has few equals and no superiors.

Messrs ROSS, DENNET, LYNCH, TYRON AND WILSON, all of American birth, and living evidence of what Yankee enterprise can accomplish.

In addition to the above list of unrivalled performers, Jim Myer's Circus is the only one in which the Fairy Legend of CINDERELLA, performed by 24 beautiful children, can be witnessed.

MAKE UP YOUR PARTIES IN TIME.

JOE PENTLAND'S
CIRCUS!!!

NEWLY equiped and greatly augmented for the year 1856, it is confidently believed, will be found to present a combination of novel and attractive features, which will more than sustain the high reputaion which it has attained in former years. Now, as heretofore, the management will endeavor to deserve success by giving the public a full equivalent for their money, and performing even more than they promise, thinking a well deserved popularity honestly gained by fair proceedings, much more desirable in the end than any mere temporary advantage, which may be obtained by resort to clap-trap and humbug. In short, having received the appellation of the Model Circus of America!

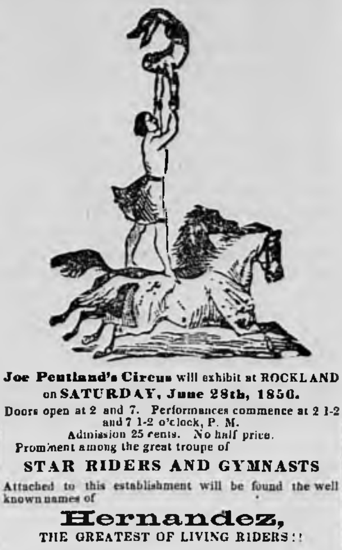
They are resolved to maintain it by giving performances which it shall be impossible to excel.

JOE PENTLAND IS CLOWN,

And his name will be a sufficient guarantee that wit without coarseness, fun without vulgarity, and mirth without end, will characterize the comic department of the exhibition.



Joe Pentland's Circus will exhibit at ROCKLAND on SATURDAY, June 28th, 1856.

Doors open at 2 and 7. Performances commence at 2 1-2 and 7 1-2 o'clock, P. M.

Admission 25 cents. No half price.

Prominent among the great troupe of

STAR RIDERS AND GYMNASTS

Attached to this establishment will be found the well known names of

Hernandez,

THE GREATEST OF LIVING RIDERS!!

Who has just returned from a protracted tour throughout Europe, and who, in all the capitols of the Old World, as throughout the length and breadth of North America is universally acknowledged to excel in grace, daring and skill, any equestrian who has ever appeared before the public. The enthusiasm excited by his extraordinary feats in London and Paris, was positively without parallel, and now that he re-appears in his native land, after an absence of seven years, he will doubtless meet with a reception which will remunerate the management for the vast expense they have incurred in securing the services of this incomparable artist.

MAD'LLE ELOUISE,

The youthful and accomplished Lady Equestrian, the most dashing and spirited female rider who has ever appeared in this country, and whose startling acts of equestrianism executed upon a Bare Backed Steed, have gained for her the indisputed title of FAIRY QUEEN OF THE ARENA.

THE NICOLO FAMILY,

From the Gymnase Comique, and Cirque Olimpique, Paris the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, and Astley's Amphitheatre, London, beyond doubt the most versatile and accomplished gymnastic performers upon the earth. A full description of the wonderful feats of these artistes would occupy more than the entire space devoted to this advertisement—there is only room to state that for originality, classic elegance, and perfect execution, they surpass anything of the kind ever witnessed upon this side of the Atlantic.

MR. S. P. STICKNEY,

The unequalled Four and Six Horse Rider, the best in the world is also included in the troupe, together with a host of Scene Riders, Trick Riders, Tumblers, Acrobats, Postroe Masters, Equilibrists, &c., &c.

Too numerous to particularise by name,

A JUVENILE TROUPE

Of Infantile Performers is included in the array of talent attached to the company, and the performances of these prodigies of equestrian and gymnastic skill, form and eminently novel and attractive feature of the entertainments.

THE BRILLIANT PERFORMANCES

Given by this Troupe, include every imaginable variety of Daring and Extraordinary Acts of Horsemanship, Wonder Inspiring Gymnastic and Acrobatic Feats, Comic Equestrian Burleitas, Miracles of Sagacity by Trick Horses, Educated Ponies and Performing Dogs.

The company on entering town on the morning of the day of exhibition, will make a GRAND PROCESSION through the principal streets, headed by the

devoted to the conveyance of the

WASHINGTON BRASS BAND,

Led by the celebrated composer and conductor, Sig. KOPP.

As any quantity of superfluous gas has, and is still escaping from minor and inferior establishments, we deem it unnecessary to give brief sketches of the unequalled performers attached to this establishment, but say that we have the best Clown in America, JOE PENTLAND, who in off-hand repartee, sarcastic humor, and genuine wit, has no equal. His bon mots, wise inuendoes, and worthy sayings, have been set to music by his brother merrymen in all parts of the country.

We have the best Single Rider in America.
We have the best Female Rider in America.
We have the best 4 and 6 Horse Rider in America.
We have the best Scene Rider in America.
We have the best stud of Horses and Ponies in America.
We have the best Acrobats and Tumblers in America.

We have, beyond dispute, the best exhibition in America and we have the company that performs all it advertises, which is the most remarkable feature in the equestrian business in America.

For further Particulars, see large and small bills, at the Hotels.

Will also exhibit at

LIFE INSURANCE

effected in safe companies. A policy of Life Insurance is the unseen hand of the affectionate Father, reaching forth from the grave, to protect his family, and may be truly styled, as the moral of the following lines will show, the widow and orphan's best friend.

" When God removed Papa to Heaven,
And Ma was left to strive for seven,
With scarce enough for burial fees,
(So lingering was poor pa's disease,)
Though full of grief, we'd not despair,
Relations spoke so kind and fair.
Our grandpa said that he, for one,
Would THINK and see what could be done.
Our uncle William, and our aunt,
HOPED we would never come to want.
But MOTHER'S BROTHERS TALKED the best
A great deal kinder than the rest;
They said that home they'd take us all,
ONLY their rooms were few and small.
We'd PROMISES from uncle Page,
To push us forward WHEN OF AGE.
They then went home—but stop, I miss,
They gave us, every one, a—kiss;
And said, "Be good, and mind mumma,
And we will be to you, papa."
SO MUCH ENGAGED were they at home,
For many weeks they could not come;
Until they heard mamma had found
A WRITING for FIVE HUNDRED POUND,
Which some INSURANCE OFFICE paid;
So Ma commenced a genteel trade;
And then they came—it seemed so funny—
To beg mamma to lend them money!
But ma said, " No; if you are poor,
A TRIFLE WILL YOUR LIVES INSURE;
And then the Office, (our best friend,)
Will comfort to your orphans send."

A Life Policy is also a means of present help to the Insured. For instance, a person wishes to go into business; his friends have confidence in his skill and honesty, and would like to assist him, but knowing the uncertainty of Life, withhold their aid;—A Life Policy makes all secure.

E. H. C. would call attention to the fact that he is devoting his WHOLE TIME to the Insurance Business, in its various branches, and pledges himself to give the most careful attention to all business in the above line.

DYER'S HEALING
EMBROCATION
EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL REMEDY

A PERFECT PAIN DESTROYER—Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

BY the use of one bottle of Dyer's Healing Embrocation. Charles Sisson, of Providence, was entirely cured of sore lungs, from which he suffered severely.

CERTIFICATES are being daily received from persons of the highest respectability in favor of Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

DYER'S Healing Embrocation cures Rheumatism, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Sprains, Piles, Sore Throat, Neuralgia, Burns, Cramps, Swellings, Ague Toothache, Headache, and all external and internal pains.

EVERY workshop and factory should keep constantly supplied with Dyer's Healing Embrocation

FROSTED flesh, bites of insects, &c., assuaged by Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

GEO. McBRIDE, of New York, sprained his ankle. Dyer's Healing Embrocation cured it.

HEADACHE and sensickness cured by Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

INTERNALLY used, Dyer's Healing Embrocation is one of the greatest value, particularly in cases of cramp, cholera morbus, dysentery, &c, JOSEPH V. CARR, of the Providence Tribune, was severely attacked with cramp in his stomach, but found immediate relief in a single dose of Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

KNOWN to be true, that Dyer's Healing Embrocation is the best external and internal remedy ever discovered.

LEAVES no stain upon the dress or skin, constant in its effects, but clean in its application. Dyer's Healing Embrocation is the admiration of all who have used it.

MOTHERS and nurses should read carefully the testimony of Mrs. R. Wilmart, which may be found in the pamphlet which accompanies Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

NO family should be without Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

ONE bottle of Dyer's Healing Embrocation will relieve an immense amount of suffering.

PILES relieved by two applications of Dyer's Healing Embrocation

QUESTION—What is the most effectual remedy for Rheumatism, cuts, wounds, sprains, burns, and other external and internal diseases? Answer Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

RHEUMATICS, one and all, use Dyer's Healing Embrocation and be cured-

SPASMODIC affections, pain or soreness in the side, back, throat, chest, or stomach, cured by Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

THE inestimable value of Dyer's Healing Embrocation has been conclusively proved, and no person or family should suffer themselves to be without it.

USE Dyer's Healing Embrocation. Many of the most eminent physicians recommended this wonderful preparation with the most perfect confidence, and freely prescribe it to their patients.

VERY IMPORTANT—That every person should keep a constant supply of Dyer's Healing Embrocation by them. A single dose often prevents the most fearful consequences.

WE warrant entire satisfaction to all who use Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

XPERIENCE has taught thousands the great value which is attached to Dyer's Healing Embrocation.

YOU never need suffer pain if precaution is taken to keep Dyer's Healing Embrocation on hand.

ZEALOUS in a good work is he who is constant in his efforts to relieve the sufferings of his fellow-men. Such a one is sure to recommend Dyer's Healing Embrocation to all suffering from internal or external pains.

Ladies, Read This

Taylor's Premium Starch Polish.

THE FRIEND OF THE LAUNDRESS. This article has been tested by the best of Judges, and pronounced superior to anything of the kind in the market. The Highest Premium has been awarded to it by the Mechanics' Fair, lately held in Boston, and wherever it has been tried it has given universal satisfaction. It not only gives a CLEAR POLISH TO THE LINEN but obviates many difficulties to which Laundresses are subject. It prevents the starch from sticking to the Iron, and causes the linen to retain its stiffness. Another important advantage is, that by using the Polish, articles can be starched in either Cold or Boiled Starch, and ironed immediately without the unfavorable results which usually follow by the ordinary manner.

Price only 25 cents in large bottles. Prepared by D. TAYLOR, JR., No. 10 Broad Street, Boston.

To HON. ARNOLD BLANEY, Judge of Probate within and for the County of Lincoln.

JEREMIAH TOLMAN guardian of LEWIS S. ULMER minor and heir at law of ENOS C. ULMER late of Rockland, deceased, respectfully represents that said minor is seized and possessed of a certain lot of land situated in said Rockland and bounded as follows: beginning at a stake and stones on the South side of Lime Rock street and at the North East corner of land assigned to Elleanor Ulmer thence South 23 3-4 degrees West by said land eight rods to land assigned to Gilbert Ulmer, thence South 59 1-2 degrees East by same six rods seven links to stake and stones at land of H. Benner's heirs, thence North 21 degrees East by said land eight rods to the street aforesaid, thence North 60 1 2 degrees West by said street six rods to the place of begining; that said land is unproductive of any benefit to said minor, and it would be for the interest of said minor to sell the same and the proceeds thereof to be put out and secured on interest. He further represents that he has had an advantageous offer for the same, viz: the sum of two hundred dollars from Andrew F. Daily of said Rockland; he therefore prays your honor that he may be empowered to sell and convey the same to the said Andrew F. Daily, also he further represents that said minor is seized and possessed of another lot of land situated in Rockland bounded as follows, viz: begining at a stake and stones at the South East corner of meadow land assigned to Polly Ulmer thence North 32 1-2 degrees West by said land thirty-four rods ten links to land of Isaac Robbins at stake and stones, thence South 2 degrees West twelve rods fifteen links by said land to stake and stones, thence South 37 degrees West twenty-five rods ten links to stake and stones, at land of heirs of Philip Ulmer, thence South 34 1-2 degrees East by same fifteen rods fifteen links to stake and stones at meadow brook to stake and stones on the Southerly line of homestead, thence South 37 degrees East by said line three and a half rods to stake and stones at land assigned to Gilbert Ulmer, thence North 47 degrees East by said land twenty-four rods ten links to first bounds; that said land is not situated so that it would be a benefit to said minor to keep it, that it would be for the interest of said minor to sell said land and put the proceeds out securely at interest he further represents that he has had an advantageous offer for the same, viz: the sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars from Gilbert Ulmer of Rockland he therefore prays your honor that he may be empowered and licensed to sell and convey the same to the said Gilbert Ulmer.

UNION OF THE OLD & THE NEW.

Allopathy and Homœpathy,—Medicine and Chemistry,

— IN —

ARNOLD'S GLOBULES

AND

VITAL FLUID.

They take a long step forward in chemical and medical science. They give the system those chemical elements which in ill health are wanting, and they remove from the system, by their medicinal power, those accumulations of inert and useless matter which their

CHEMICAL

Action has neutralized from poisons and impurities of the Blood.

HUMORS ARE POISONS!

In the Blood—nothing more, nothing less—and they can be annihilated only by their

CHEMICAL OPPOSITE.

And it by this chemical action, by this union of sciences, that Arnold's Globules and Vital Fluid will prove their peculiar power of giving business and taking away curses—of giving the elements of health and taking away the elements of disease. Scrofula, Canker, Humors of all kinds, Billiousness, Nervous or general Debility, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, Headache and Lassitude are removed by chemical annihilation of the cause, and chemical supply of elements which are needed in the system to counteract influence of unhealthy presence. Then the blood is vitalized by chemical action. Both mind and frame are nerved as if with new power to do and to act.

KENNEDY'S

MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

THE GREATEST GF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of [illegible].

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rhematism.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed, growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start.—There are no ifs nor ands about it, suiting some cases, but not yours. He has peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty; and has seen poor, puny looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person, I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can and enough of it.

All orders should be addressed to H. H. HAY, at the

BRANCH OFFICE IN MAINE,

15 & 17 Market Square Portand.

This is to certify that H H HAY, Druggist, Portland, is the duly AUTHORIZED AGENT for my Medical Discovery, for the STATE OF MAINE, and that he is supplied with the GENUINE direct from my Laboratory. DONALD KENNEDY.

The Great Family Remedy!!

G. W. STONE'S

VEGETABLE

LIQUID CATHARTIC!

THE public do not require to be told that a mild, safe and reliable cathartic in a liquid form, agreeable to the taste and one which purges without violence, is a desideratum in medicine; this act will be admitted by all. Such a discovery has been often attempted but without success until the introduction of the above named remedy.

No patent medicine ever met with such a ready approval by physians as this. Many regular practitioners are using it daily, all of whom have spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Persons for the want of a better have been obliged to resort to the use of those drastic nauseous and oftentimes injurious purgatives such as castor oil, salts, senna, jallop, rhubarb, alloes, gambuge &c., all of which cause more or less depletion, and fail to accomplish the object for which they are taken; on the contrary they often increase the difficulty and render the patient less curable. None of these enter into the composition of this invaluable remedy. It is composed of barks, roots and seeds, the medical properties of which are exactly adapted to the cure of those complaints for which it is recommended. By a combination of those properties the public are put in possession of the most valuable preparation ever produced. This medicine is not intended simply as a cathartic, its value as such is insignificant when compared with its power of purifying the blood from all humors, regulating the action of the bowels, curing Dyspepsia, restoring the appetite, producing a healthy action of the Liver, freeing the Stomach from bile, and invigorating and strengthening the whole system. It is a certain cure for the Piles, and those suffering from that complaint should give it a trial. It is also warranted to cure carker in its worst forms. For all diseases of the Bowels it cannot be recommended too highly. In Summer Complaints such as Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, &c., it will be found invaluable.

Reader, as sure as the sun rises in the east, just so sure you will be benefitted by the use of this medicine for any of the above complaints, and as sure will it relieve those suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Tic Doloureux, Gout, Headache, and Pain in the Side and Stomach, caused by Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion general Debility, &c., is often caused by wind in the Stomach, which this temedy will expel at once. It is an excellent remedy for Sea Sickness. Those having occasion to travel by water will find this an invaluable remedy.

DR. LANGLEY'S

ROOT & HERB JAUNDICE BITTERS.

The Great Spring and Summer Medicine.

Composed of the best Roots, Herbs and Barks in the world, in such a manner as to constitute the very best remedy for the class of diseases for which they are recommended. It is well known that the great and sudden changes of climate, from cold to hot, operates upon the Blood, and through that upon the whole system, producing stagnation and impurities, a torpid and diseased liver and disordered Bowels, causing Fevers and Fever and Ague, Jaundice, an unhealthy Bile, Humors, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Indigestion, Headache, Dizziness, Weariness, Pain in the Side and Bowels, Loss of Appetite, and General Debility.

Dr. Langley's Bitters, act directly upon the cause of all these diseases, and by use not only prevent them but will cure and eradicate them from the system, and should therefore be freely used by all who wish to be well and keep well. They are the cheapest and best medicine in the world. Only 25 cents for a pint and 37 cents for a large bottle. Office, 99 Union Street, Boston, and for sale by dealers everywhere.

THIRTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE

— OF AN —

OLD NURSE.

MRS WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician presents to the attention of Mothers,

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

It will immediately relieve them from pain, allay all spasmodic action, soften the gums, reduce inflamation, and is sure to regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it Mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and relief and health to your children. Price 25 cents per bottle.

We have sold very large quantities of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup during the past few years—over 20,000 bottles the last year. We believe it the best medicine in the world for Children Teething or for the cure of Dysentery or Diarrhœa in Children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. It gives universal satisfaction—never heard a complaint from any one using it—never sold a medicine so universally successful in relieving pain and effecting cures. In all cases above stated, if taken in season, relief is immediate and absolutely CERTAIN.

CURTISS & PERKINS.

Druggists, No. 40 Courtland Street.

New York, Jany 20th, 1854.

A Lady of the first Respectability writes:

DEAR SIR:—I am happy to be able to certify to the efficacy of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup and to the truth of what it is represented to accomplish. Having a little boy suffering greatly from teething, who could not rest, and at night by his cries would not permit any of the family to do so, I purchased a bottle of the soothing Syrup, in order to test the remedy and when given to him the effect was like magic; he soon went to sleep, and all pain and nervousness dissappeared. We have had no trouble with him since, and the little fellow will pass through with comfort, the excruciating process of teething by the sole aid of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Every mother who regards the health and life of her children should possess it.

UNION OF THE OLD & THE NEW.

Allopathy and Homœpathy,—Medicine and Chemistry,

—IN—

ARNOLD'S GLOBULES

AND

VITAL FLUID.

They take a long step forward in chemical and medical science. They give the system those chemical elements which in ill health are wanting, and they remove from the system, by their medicinal power, those accumulations of inert and useless matter which their

CHEMICAL

Action has neutralized from poisons and impurities of the Blood.

HUMORS ARE POISONS!

In the Blood—nothing more, nothing less—and they can be annihilated only by their

CHEMICAL OPPOSITE.

And it by this chemical action, by this union of sciences, that Arnold's Globules and Vital Fluid will prove their peculiar power of giving business and taking away curses—of giving the elements of health and taking away the elements of disease. Scrofula, Canker, Humors of all kinds, Billiousness, Nervous or general Debility, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, Headache and Lassitude are removed by chemical annihilation of the cause, and chemical supply of elements which are needed in the system to counteract influence of unhealthy presence. Then the blood is vitalized by chemical action. Both mind and frame are nerved as if with new power to do and to act.

KENNEDY'S

MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

THE GREATEST OF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rhematism.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the very worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so improbable to those who have in vain tried all the wonderful medicines of the day, as that a common weed, growing in the pastures, and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. If you have a humor it has to start. There are no ifs nor ands about it, suiting some cases, but not yours. He has peddled over a thousand bottles of it in the vicinity of Boston, and knows the effects of it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. He gave it to children a year old; to old people of sixty; and has seen poor, punny looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to sick headache, one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have taken it have been costive for years, and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound, it works quite easy, but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it will cause very singular feelings, but you must not be alarmed—they always disappear in from four days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone, you will feel yourself like a new person. I heard some of the most extravagant encomiums of it that ever man listened to.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can and enough of it.

The Great Family Remedy!!

G. W. STONE'S

VEGETABLE

LIQUID CATHARTIC!

THE public do not require to be told that a mild, safe and reliable cathartic in a liquid form, agreeable to the taste and one which purges without violence, is a desideratum in medicine; this act will be admitted by all. Such a discovery has been often attempted but without success until the introduction of the above named remedy.

No patent medicine ever met with such a ready approval by physicians as this. Many regular practitioners are using it daily, all of whom have spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Persons for the want of a better have been obliged to resort to the use of those drastic nauseous and ofcentimes injurious purgatives such as castor oil, salts, senna, jallop, rhubarb, alloes, gamboge &c., all of which cause more or less depletion, and fail to accomplish the object for which they are taken; on the contrary they often increase the difficulty and render the patient less curable. None of these enter into the composition of this invaluable remedy. It is composed of barks, roots and seeds, the medical properties of which are exactly adapted to the cure of those complaints for which it is recommended. By a combination of those properties the public are put in possession of the most valuable preparation ever produced. This medicine is not intended simply as a cathartic, its value as such is insignificant when compared with its power of purifying the blood from all humors, regulating the action of the bowels, curing Dyspepsia, restoring the appetite, producing a healthy action of the Liver, freeing the Stomach from bile, and invigorating and strengthening the whole system. It is a certain cure for the Piles, and those suffering from that complaint should give it a trial. It is also warranted to cure canker in its worst forms. For all diseases of the Bowels it cannot be recommended too highly. In Summer Complaints such as Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, &c., it will be found invaluable.

Reader, as sure as the sun rises in the east, just so sure you will be benefitted by the use of this medicine for any of the above complaints, and as sure will it relieve those suffering from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Tic Dolonreux, Gout, Headache, and Pain in the Side and Stomach, caused by Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion general Debility, &c., is often caused by wind in the Stomach, which this temed will expel at once. It is an excellent remedy for Sea Sickness Those having occasion to travel by water will find this an invaluable remedy.

IMPROVED

CHURCH ORGANS and MELODEONS,

MANUFACTURED BY

MORSE, BROTHERS,

WARE ROOM, SNOW'S BLOCK, Main Street, Rockland, Me.

THE subscribers grateful for the very liberal patronage which they have thus far received, would again invite the attention of the public to their improved Organs and Melodeons.

Also to a new instrument for CHURCH use, called the

which for small Churches, is considered a valuable substitute for the pipe Organ. We would also say that our facilities for manufacturing are now such as will enable us to furnish instruments equally as low as other manufacturers in any part of the country and yet we shall make every effort to have all our instruments unsurpassed in style of finish, beauty of tone, and durability. Every instrument fully warranted.

Piano Fortes of superior tone, at manufacturers prices. Sheet Music and Instruction Books on hand and furnished to order as low as can be obtained at retail in Boston or New York.

"Buy Me and I'll Do You Good!"

DR. LANGLEY'S

ROOT & HERB JAUNDICE BITTERS.

The Great Spring and Summer Medicine.

Composed of the best Roots, Herbs and Barks in the world, in such a manner as to constitute the very best remedy for the class of diseases for which they are recommended. It is well known that the great and sudden changes of climate, from cold to hot, operates upon the Blood, and through that upon the whole system, producing stagnation and impurities, a torpid and diseased liver and disordered Bowels, causing Fevers and Fever and Ague, Jaundice, an unhealthy Bile, Humors, Eyspepsia, Costiveness, Indigestion, Headache, Dizziness, Weariness, Pain in the Side and Bowels, Loss of Appetite, and General Debility.

Dr. Langley's Bitters, act directly upon the cause of all these diseases, and by use not only prevent them but will cure and eradicate them from the system, and should therefore be freely used by all who wish to be well and keep well. They are the cheapest and best medicine in the world. Only 25 cents for a pint and 37 cents for a large bottle. Office, 99 Union Street, Boston, and for sale by dealers everywhere.

Sold in this City by C. P. FESSENDEN. 6m12

THIRTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE

—OF AN—

OLD NURSE.

MRS WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician presents to the attention of Mothers,

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING.

It will immediately relieve them from pain, allay all spasmodic action, soften the gums, reduce inflamation, and is sure to regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it Mothers, it will give rest to yourselves and relief and health to your children. Price 25 cents per bottle.

We have sold very large quantities of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup during the past few years—over 20,000 bottles the last year. We believe it the best medicine in the world for Children Teething or for the cure of Dysentery or Diarrhœa in Children, whether it arises from teething or any other cause. It gives universal satisfaction—never heard a complaint from any one using it—never sold a medicine so universally successful in relieving pain and effecting cures. In all cases above stated, if taken in season, relief is immediate and absolutely CERTAIN.

CURTISS & PERKINS.

Druggists, No. 40 Courtland Street.

New York, Jany 20th, 1854.

A Lady of the first Respectability writes:

DEAR SIR:—I am happy to be able to certify to the efficacy of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup and to the truth of what it is represented to accomplish. Having a little boy suffering greatly from teething, who could not rest, and at night by his cries would not permit any of the family to do so, I purchased a bottle of the soothing Syrup, in order to test the remedy and when given to him the effect was like magic; he soon went to sleep, and all pain and nervousness disappeared. We have had no trouble with him since, and the little fellow will pass through with comfort, the excruciating process of teething by the sole aid of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Every mother who regards the health and life of her children should possess it. MRS. H. A. ALGER.
